DEMOCRATIC RALLY SATURDAY

BUSINESS CONDITIONS IN TEXAS GOOD

SEVERE COLD WAVE IS DUE TO STRIKE STATE

INCREASE IS SHOWN IN STORE SALES FOR ELEVENTH DISTRICT

FEDERAL RESERVE BANK BUSINESS REVIEW HAS OPTIMISTIC TONE

DALLAS, Nov. 1. (AP)—Heavy buying which sent department store sales in September 40 per cent above the previous demand for funds to finance fall expansion of trade and industry, and a perceptible increase in the amount of debits to individual accounts, were outstanding items in the monthly business review of the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank issued today.

While building permit valuations at large centers slumped materially in the month as compared with August, this factor was counterbalanced in that the business mortality rate in the Eleventh District reflected a further improvement. Failures in September were as numerous as in the previous month, but were substantially less than September last year and liabilities of defaulting firms were smaller than in any month since July, 1927.

Weather Favorable.

Weather conditions, the report said, generally have been favorable for the maturity of crops and farmers have made good progress with harvesting operations. Beneficial rains fell over the southern

NEGRO ATTACKER WHITE WOMAN GIVEN DEATH SENTENCE

GREENVILLE, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Convicted of an attack on a white woman, Willie Grady, negro, today was sentenced to death by a jury in district court here.

Grady maintained the stolid composure he had exhibited throughout his trial.. Just before the jury, which began deliberating the case at six p. m., yesterday but went to bed without reaching a decision, returned its verdict Grady ate a hearty breakfast, which he finished after the verdict.

The attack, the state alleged, occurred on Oct. 9, while the victim was gathering cotton pickers. Grady was arrested less than an hour later, and was taken out of Greenville for safe keeping.

Throughout the trial, in which the victim and her husband testified, two Texas rangers, J. W. Aldrich and J. D. Huddleston, remained on guard at the request of District Judge Grover Sellers. All persons who entered the courtroom were searched.

Mother Released in Alleged Kidnapping

BEAUMONT. Nov. 1.—(AP)—A writ of habeas corpus granted today by District George C. O'Brien resulted in the release of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Golden, New York, and Mrs. Floy Sharp, Port Arthur, Texas, who have been held in the kidnapping recently of Gregory Golden, 11, in Boerne, Texas.

The writ allows possession of the child by the parents pending further investigation of kidnapping charges filed against them in Kendall county.

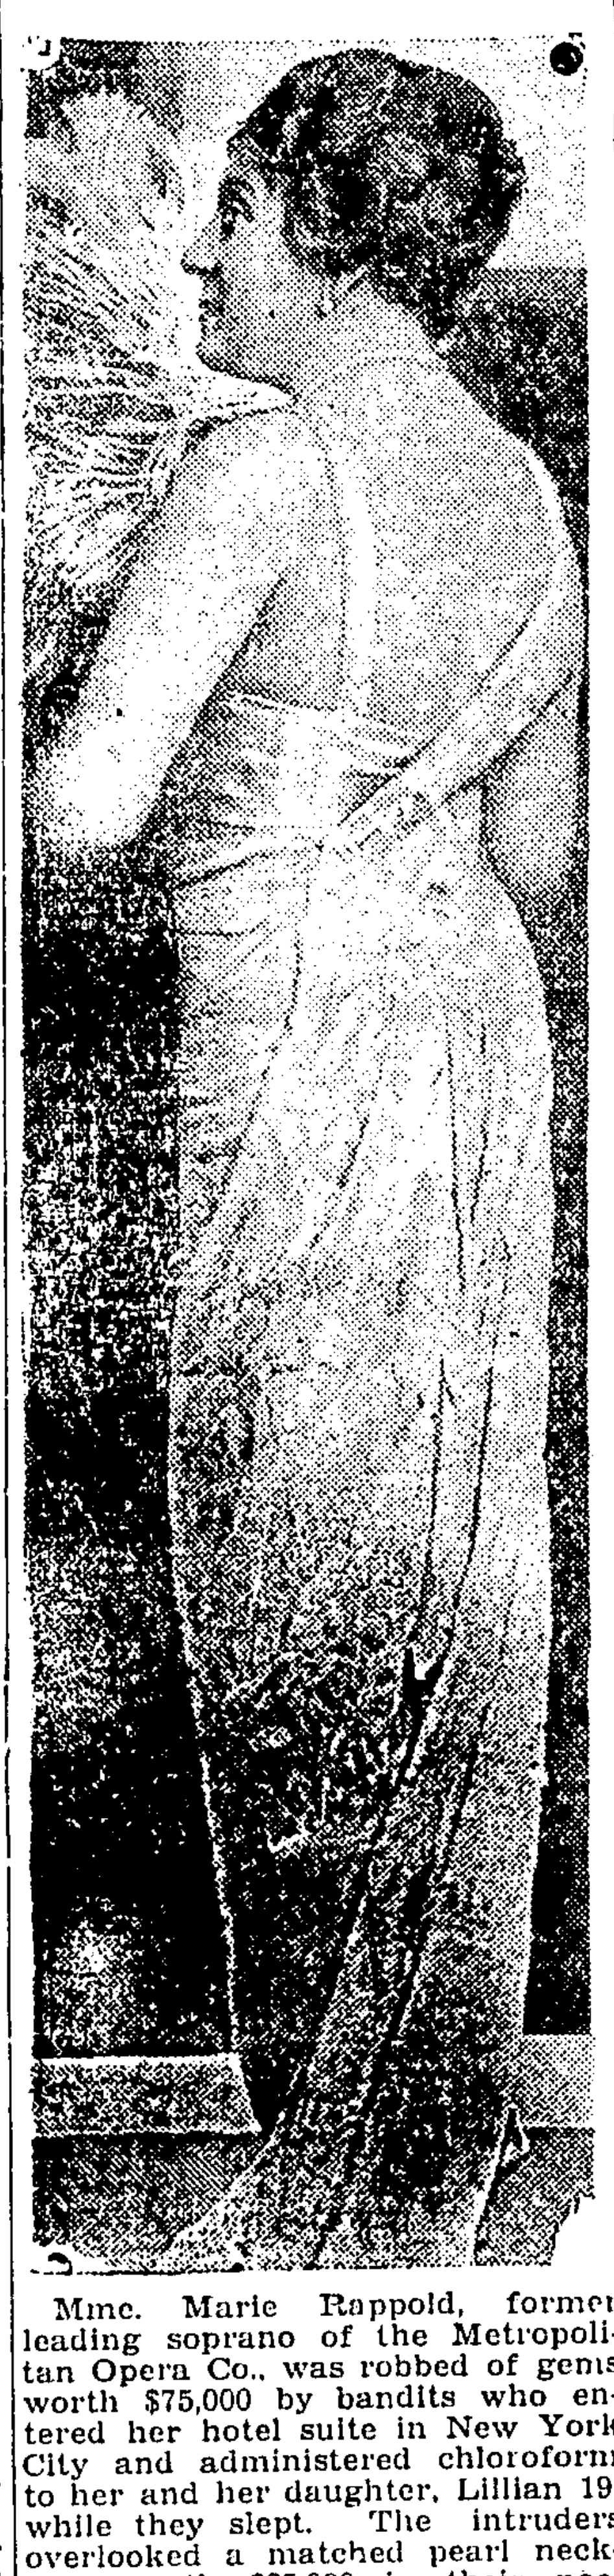
Soup and Fish Policemen Out Protect Jewels

CHICAGO. Nov. 1.—(AP)—Ten squads of "soup and fish" policemen—the ones who can wear evening clothes and get away with it—attended the opening of the Chicago Civic Opera season last night.

They were not there to see and hear "Carmen," but to keep eagle eyes on gems estimated to be worth $10,000,000, and which adorned Chicago society, out in numbers for the event.

Private detectives, engaged by society leaders as personal watchmen, also were present. Outside, additional police squads patrolled the streets.

Drugged and Robbed



Mme. Marie Rappold, former leading soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Co., was robbed of gems worth $75,000 by bandits who entered her hotel suite in New York City and administered chloroform to her and her daughter, Lillian 19, while they slept. The intruders overlooked a matched pearl necklace worth $25,000 in their nocturnal raid.

HIDALGO COUNTY POLITICAL ROW IS BEFORE OFFICIAL

HOUSTON. Nov. 1.—(AP)—After a conference today with Mayor F. B. Freeland of McAllen and D. E. Worley of Harlingen, leaders of the Hidalgo county "Citizens-Republican" committee, Henry M. Holden, of Houston, U. S. district attorney, announced he would order an immediate investigation of alleged election irregularities in the Rio Grande Valley county.

Mr. Holden said that he would wire Gus T. Jones of San Antonio, in charge of the federal department of justice in Texas, to begin the investigation as soon as possible.

Members of both factions in the political fued invited Mr. Holden to make an investigation after John Marshall, assistant attorney general, had ordered the Houston federal attorney to take what steps he deemed necessary. Attention of the attorney general's department was called to the matter when 2,000 telegrams of protest against "Hidalgo county conditions" were sent President Coolidge.

"I am not convinced that there has been a violation of the federal law, but under the circumstances I think that it is proper to have investigators go down there and find out what there is to all these reports," Mr. Holden declared. "I want it understood that the investigation will not be made with the idea of instituting a prosecution, but to get at the real facts of this election muddle."

SNOWING IN KANSAS.

SALINA. Kas., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Snow, driven by a high north wind, was falling over the western part of Kansas today.

GOVERNOR SMITH TO CONCENTRATE UPON NEW YORK STATE

SAID REPUBLICANS FOOLING PEOPLE IN HIS NEW JERSEY SPEECH

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—With a dash into New Jersey where he criticised his republican opposition for what he characterized as "fooling of the people" on all the big questions of the day, Governor Smith has wound up his campaign away from home.

From now until election day, he will concentrate his efforts on his home state of New York, with its 45 electoral votes.

Speeches in Brooklyn tomorrow night will conclude the governor's appearance before large campaign audiences. He will make a radio appeal from his suite in the Hotel Biltmore on election eve after Herbert Hoover has had his final say to the voters from Palo Alto, Calif.

Last night Smith spoke at the 113th regiment armory, Newark, after having been acclaimed by thousands of torch-bearing well-wishers during his trip by automobile through Hoboken, Jersey City and other points en route. He tore into the republican camaigners in sarcastic fashion, particularly as to their arguments on labor and farm relief.

Hoover, Hughes and Borah.

He attacked Hoover's speech made in the same armory several weeks ago and assailed Charles Evans Hughes and Senator Borah, the mention of whose names brought boos from the audience.

Hughes, he said, amid laughter, should have been the republican candidate instead of Hoover because he was "doing more to elect the republican president than the nominee himself."

He said Hoover had made an "exaggerated statement" when he declared in Newark that "real wages and standards of living of our labor have improved more during the past seven and a half years of republican rule than during any similar period in the history of our country." Credit for such conditions was given to Woodrow Wilson by the democratic nominee.

After challenging figures from the opposition camp on unemployment and assailing the republican plank on labor injunctions, Smith said his own program called for the "necesssary appropriation to the department of labor" to enable it to make adequate surveys on unemployment so "this question of veracity as between officials" will never arise again.

False Economy Showing.

He said he was satisfied the American people was "not wedded to a policy of economy,"

Furthermore, he was "distinctly in favor of a thorough study of the methods of industry, the newly adopted methods of industry, so that we may be able to absorb the surplus labor that is released because of the introduction of modern machinery."

Smith termed the republican plank on labor injunctions "meaningless" and "senseless," and said the democrats had promised a definite remedy "by law" to end "the existing evils."

As for farm relief, he said the republicans were in a "panic" and he attempted to prove this by relating how Governor McMullen, of Nebraska and Senator Borah had gone to Washington to "plead" with Hoover to favor an extra session of congress to deal with this question.

"The care of the exportable surplus crops," said the governor, "is the underlying, fundamental question behind constructive farm relief, and Mr. Hoover is unalterably opposed to that."

Cold-Blooded Insult.

Smith branded as a "cold-blooded insult" to the working man a circular which he said he had been reliably informed was sent out to business houses by the republican national committee for insertion in the pay envelopes of mill and factory workers and which stated "the pay coming to you in this envelope is from two to ten times as much as you would have received for doing the same work in Europe."

"Let us devote just a few minutes to this question of prohibition," the governor said.

"If ever there was a deliberate attempt to becloud the issue, it has taken place in relation to the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act. I know perfectly well that the president of the Unitedd States cannot amend the constitution Mr. Hughes does not have to tell me that. I know that, and what is more, I know that he knows that I know it.

BATTALIONS OF SMITH AND HOOVER BATTLLING FIERCELY FOR NEW YORK STATE VOTE

By BYRON PRICE
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

NEW YORK. Nov. 1.—(AP)—Driven by considerations of the most compelling character, the battalions of Smith and Hoover are contesting hand-to-hand for the state of New York.

Official communiques of both Democrats and Republicans continue to speak of an expected victory, just as they did when the battle started. Each side is willing to put its predictions into more or less definite figures. But both concede that the final days see no relaxation in the fury of the combat, and neither is preparing to return a single weary soldier to the rest billets until the last inch of ground has been won or lost.

The magnitude of the struggle is not gauged alone by the preponderant weight of the state's 45 electoral votes, important as that factor is in the calculations of both candidates. Although this is the largest single bloc in the whole electoral college, and more than one-sixth of the whole number needed to elect a president, there are added reasons why New York is receiving a disproportionate share of attention in this particular campaign.

One of these reasons lies in the fact that New York is the home state of Gov. Smith. Both from the standpoint of local and personal pride, and for its effect on the governor's political future, his followers here have been fired by a special determination to demonstrate that he can carry the state as a presidential nominee, just as he has four times out of five for the governorship. Conversely, his opponents are determined to strike a blow at his leadership by taking his own state for Hoover.

Another reason is to be found in the dominating position occupied by New York in the financial and industrial world. Gov. Smith and Chairman Raskob have given repeated assurances that business has nothing to fear from a Democratic victory in 1928. Democratic leaders feel it would be to their particular advantage to be able to say that, after a long lapse of years, New York again was willing to cast her vote for a Democratic nominee for president. By the same token, the Republicans are counselling business men not to trust Democratic promises, and not to let this much-relied-upon state slip out of the Republican column.

All of these causes, combined augmented by the division on prohibition, religion and other issues common to all of the states, have made the campaign here in New York vastly more than a surface display of political activity. The politics now prevalent in this state is the kind that penetrates to the marrow of the bone. Whatever outward agitation there may have been—and there was and is plenty of it—is not to be compared to the work of quiet organizations which has gone on ever since the national conventions, from one end of the state to the other.

Strong Tactics Fail; Wife Gets Divorce to Vote

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The electioneering William Lynch did in his home for his favorite presidential candidate was made the basis on which Mrs. Bartie M. Lynch won a decree of divorce yesterday.

"My husband is a democrat and thinks that Alfred E. Smith is the best man for president," Mrs. Lynch testified. "I am a republican and I'm for Herbert Hoover. I told my husband I thought Hoover was the best man and he got angry, grabbed me around the neck and rapped his knuckles on my head attempting to make me take back my statement and change my vote intentions."

Declaring a wife's right to support any candidate she prefers, the judge signed the divorce decree.

FORMER PRIDE OF TEXAS HOSTELRIES TO BE TORN DOWN

GALVESTON. Nov. 1.—(AP)—For the first time in 52 years the Tremont Hotel, once the pride of Texas hostelries, failed to open its doors to the traveling public today.

The structure, long unique among hotels of the South by boasting an elevator, soon will be torn down to make room for a more modern building.

The Tremont was formally opened in 1876 and served as the scene for many functions of importance.

Youthful Robber Killed by Police

CHICAGO. Nov. 1.—(AP)—Policeman John Kelly's dinner was interrupted last night when three youths entered Barney Kessel's restaurant and ordered him to "stick 'em up."

As the restaurant keeper raised his hands, Kelly fired. One of the robbers fell dead. The other two ran.

HIDALGO BONDS APPROVED.

AUSTIN, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Hidalgo road district number three improvement bonds totaling $650,000 bearing 5 1-2 per cent interest, were approved by the attorney general's department today.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY KEYES OF LOS ANGELES INDICTED: REMOVAL FROM OFFICE ASKED

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—(AP)—An indictment against Asa Keyes, district attorney of Los Angeles county, charging "willful and corrupt misconduct in office" was returned here last night bythe county grand jury, which also filed an "accusation" in superior court demanding his removal from office.

The indictment charged that Keyes, who gained widespread publicity in the investigation of the Aimee Semple McPherson disappearance case and in the conviction of William Edward Hickman, recently executed, had accepted money from several persons in exchange for dismissal of indictments against them, or, failing in that, acquittal at the hands of juries.

One of the accounts alleged that Keyes took $10,000 from Jacob Berman, alias Jack Bennett, in consummating an alleged agreement by which Herman escaped conviction on charges growing out of the failure here last fall of the Julian Petroleum corporation for several million dollars.

The grand jury's accusation included the charge that Keyes conspired with Berman and E. H. Rosenberg and Jack Rosenberg to effect their acquittal of charges involved in the collapse of the corporation in a gigantic stock tangle.

Secret indictments against an undisclosed number of other persons also were returned.

Bench warrants for the district attorney and the others were issued last night. The grand jury recommended that Keyes be released on his own recognizance.

Superior Judge Douglas Edmonds, who assisted the jury in its investigation, appointed John W. Hart, chairman of the grand jury committee of the Los Angeles County Bar association, as a special prosecutor to deal with the Keyes case. Members of the county sheriff's office and an investigator from the county civil service commission also aided the grand jury.

Among the charges in the allegation seeking Keyes' removal from office was one that he unlawfully possessed and transported twelve quarts of whiskey in his automobile.

Among the other charges were that Keyes accepted a $630 platinum wrist watch from E. H. Rosenberg before Rosenberg and nine other persons were acquitted in the state courts; and that the district attorney accepted an unknown sum from A. I. Lasker for dismissing a felony charge against the latter.

Questioned concerning the Keyes indictment E. H. Rosenberg declared he "never bribed any officials or corrupted any public officer."

S. C. Lewis, Berman, the two Rosenbergh and six other defendants in the Julian case were acquitted in the state courts last May after a trial lasting five months. The indictment last night followed upon the conviction of Lewis

AIR MAILS HALTED; RAILROADS SUFFERING FROM SNOWS AND WINDS

DALLAS, Nov. 1. (AP) On top of the already chilly weather of the past few days Texas was scheduled to catch the southern edge of a real cold wave today.

Reports said the worst early season blizzard in history was sweeping across Nebraska last night leaving six or seven inches of snow, stalled motors, impassable roads and impaired communications in its wake. Colorado reported snow sweeping through mountain passes and drifting badly.

Weather forecasts said that the northern section of the Panhandle would get the cold wave today and that Northeast Texas would have colder weather. It was uncertain how far south in the state the cold wave was apt to penetrate.

November Enters in Blizzard.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Wintry winds, bringing lower temperatures, snow and rain, swept November into the middle-west today as the second Rocky Mountain blizzard of the season whipped out over the central prairies.

Strong, shifting winds prevailed and the outlook was for snow over the upper Mississippi region, in Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle. Rain, accompanied by failing temperatures, was general over this area yesterday.

Heavy snow, which blanketed the Rocky Mountain regions, has halted air mail traffic, made highways nearly impassable, and threatened rail transportation there. Reports reaching Denver, which city received its first snow of the season last night, said that a severe storm was raging in the high Colorado Rockies, and that snow was drifting rapidly.

In a few hours the mercury fell from 39 to 22 degrees at Denver and railroad officials were reported in close touch with mountain points in the belief some of the high passes might be closed soon.

Wyoming was caught in the real brunt of the storm, with from three to five inches of snow reported over the state. Cheyenne reported no movement of air mail planes in that section, and storm warnings were issued to motorists.

Westbound air mail planes were held at North Platte, Neb., gripped in the worst early season blizzard in recent years in that section. Following rain which fell throughout yesterday the storm was expected to pass Omaha and spread out over Iowa and Missouri today.

Blizzard Grips Wide Area.

DENVER, Nov. 1.—(AP)—With air mail service curtailed, vehicular traffic seriously hampered and trains delayed the Rocky Mountain region today was in the grip of its second big storm of the season.

Snow driven by a brisk north wind continued to fall most of the day throughout this section. The weather was held indirectly responsible for the death of one man and the disappearance of another.

William Mueller, 35, Denver mechanic, was asphyxiated when the wind blew shut the door of his garage in which he was working on his automobile while the engine running. Police were asked to search for William Hendricks, 70, who had been missing from his Denver home since early Wednesday when he started for a walk in the storm.

Nation Wide Tour Of Senator Robinson Is Near Its Close

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Nov. 1.—(AP)—A hit and run campaign in Indiana today, in Ohio tomorrow and West Virginia Saturday and the nationwide tour of Senator Joe T. Robinson, democratic vice-presidential nominee, will have come to its end

He will board a fast train early Sunday for his home at Little Rock, Ark., to participate in a homecoming rally aranged by the folks he grew up with and to settle down until telegraph wires and radio bring him the tidings of the people's decision.

Happy and confident, the democratic nominee began the tail-end of his campaign feeling, as he expressed it, "better than when I started."

PENSIONS HELD BE LEGAL BY SUPREME COURT THURSDAY

AUSTIN Nov. 1—(AP)—Decision of the supreme court that pensions under state and city laws providing them, may constitute part of a salary contract, was made final today when the court overruled a motion for rehearing in W. R. Byrd's suit for injunction restraining the city of Dallas from paying pensions to four firemen and a former police chief.

Counsel for Byrd contended in the motion for rehearing that the "court is setting one of the most dangerous precedents of public policy that any court has ever seen in Texas—a pension by contract."

The court had held in an opinion upholding the pensions that a person employed by a city with pension provision might consider the right to participate in pensions as a sort of supplement to the salary offered.

VETERAN OF WAR WITH MEXICO DIES NEAR SAN ANGELO

SAN ANGELO, Nov. 1. —(AP)—Stricken with heart attack, Richard Albert Howard, 97, one of the three remaining campaigners of the seige of Vera Cruz in the Mexican-American war in 1848, died at his home near here today.

He enlisted in the U. S. artillery in 1948 and joined his unit at Vera Cruz. After being mustered out of service the same year, Howard went to Sterling City, Texas, and built the first house in the West Texas town.

Two remaining survivors of the seige are William Fitzhugh, 100, Paris, Mo., and Owen Thomas Edgar, 97, Washington, D. C.

Hillsboro Jailer Near Death After Attack by Youths

HILLSBORO. Nov. 1.—(AP)— Jess Winters, 47, jailer, is at the point of death here from a crushed skull as the aftermath to an attack today by two youthful prisoners, 16 and 17, armed with a wooden cudgel. Physicians said Winters had no chance for recovery.

Sheriff George Simmons asserted the jailer was assaulted from behind while making his early routine rounds.

In a moment of consciousness the injured man named two youths as the ones who struck him with a heavy piece of timber.

The attempted jail break was frustrated when Winters' assailants failed to find the key to the outer jail door or his pistol.

LUTHER JOHNSON IS MAIN SPEAKER; TO RECEIVE WELCOME

GIANT HOME-COMING CELEBRATION AND DEMOCRATIC RALLY SATURDAY NIGHT

Plans were getting in shape Thursday for the giant celebration and home-coming for Congressman Luther A. Johnson of Corsicana here Saturday when he is scheduled to speak in the interest of the National Democratic ticket at the Navarro county courthouse Saturday evening at 7 o'clock. Congressman Johnson has been touring a number of doubtful states during the last several weeks in the interest of the Democratic campaign and plans here are being pushed to make this a giant county-wide affair.

Loud speakers are to be installed in the courthouse, both in the district and county courtrooms and corridors, so that anyone within the building can hear his address with ease. Large delegations are expected from all sections of the county for this meeting and advance indications point to perhaps the biggest gathering in the county during the present campaign.

At Hillsboro Friday.

A. A. Allison, general chairman for the meeting, stated Thursday that his information was that arrangements are being perfected at Hillsboro for a huge meeting Friday evening when Congressman Johnson will be the principal speaker. Congressman Johnson will speak at Dawson Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in connection with a Trades Day celebration there and a large number of the men on the reception committee plan to go to Dawson to welcome him while the ladies of the reception committee will meet him at the Navarro Hotel. A dinner will be served honoring Congressman Johnson at 6 o'clock at the Navarro Hotel.

It is planned that a joint band of the Corsicana high school and the State Orphans' Home under the direction of Joel Trimble, band director, will furnish special music on Beaton street upon the arrival of Mr. Johnson and also will furnish music at the hotel. A number of impromptu greetings will be made at the reception at the hotel.

Mr. Allison also stated that the arrangements committee headed by John T. Fortson was making an effort to secure a radio broadcast of this address over a Dallas or Fort Worth station, but Thursday morning, no definite announcement had been made.

Hardy to Introduce Speaker.

There will be a few short preliminary speeches at the meeting and

Fentress Burglars Have Been Indicted

—o—

LOCKHART, Nov. 1.—(AP)— Joe Revis, Rred Thomas and Santos Sanchez have been indicted by the Cardwell county grand jury on 10 counts in connection with the burglarizing of several stores in Fentress last Friday.

Their trial has been set for November 7.

A woman, claiming to be a sweetheart of Ravis, who is a Cherokee Indian, is being held at Hallettsville in connection with the burglarizing of a store at Sweethome two weeks ago.

Husband Found Alive Following His Funeral

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Mrs. Joseph Nalepa has found her husband alive two days after "his" funeral.

He disappeared two weeks ago. A man's body was dragged from Lake Michigan; Mrs. Nalepa said it was her husband's.

Upon the advice of friends, she went to a hospital last night. There she found her husband, alive and recovering from a mental lapse. Police had sent him there for psychopathic treatment when he was found wandering the streets in a dazed condition.

THE TIDAL WAVE.

Last spring the Republican press and politicians were telling the world that this is a "Republican year." There were boasts that the weakest Republican candidate could defeat the strongest Democratic nominee by a majority larger than those of Harding and Coolidge. It will be remembered that immediately after the Kansas City convention Republican leaders climbed aboard the Hoover bandwagon with pledges of fantastic majorities for him in their cities and states.

The summer passed and fall found the campaign on in earnest. And what Republican prophecies were abroad then? One Hoover newspaper in the East announced editorially that the election would turn on three or four electoral votes. Extravagant state majorities predicted in July had dwindled to "safe majorities" in late September. The G. O. P. managers, who in July had claimed the Solid West, Solid Middle West, everything in the East and a healthy slice of the Solid South, were admitting the loss of normally Republican states up and down both coasts and across the breadth of the continent. All talk of landslides, walkaways and grand sweeps had vanished.

What is the "dope" today with election day less than a week away? The Republicans have given up hope of breaking into the Solid South. They have surrendered several states in the West and Middle West. And in the East it is the Republican party, not the Democratic party, that is fighting with its back to the wall.

The word is going out from Republican headquarters to workers everywhere that the only possibility of Republican defeat this year lies in overconfidence. That warning against overconfidence is another way of saying that Democratic prospects have brightened.

The campaign on both sides is being hopefully and arduously fought. The Republican manager who privately believes Hoover has a "walk-away" has become as rare as the Democratic manager who privately concedes defeat. There is a certain "feel" among the politicians that beneath the surface the leviathan which is the American electorate has begun to stir and lift his huge bulk for very definite and sweeping action.

Governor Smith has always won his battles in the last two weeks of the campaign. This campaign is no exception. For a week political writers in all parts of the country have been reporting that the Democratic nominee is gaining. It is stated that the communications to Republican headquarters are full of discussions of this change in public sentiment. Beyond a doubt, Governor Smith is being swept into the presidency by a sudden tidal wave of popular acclaim.

Right now the Republicans seem to be certain of nothing except carrying Maine and Vermont. They will carry more states than their fears suggest but where their electoral vote will come from they know not. Absolute defections and adverse swings have made their poor managerial heads dizzy.

Governor Smith has waged a good fight. He has won his way into the sympathy, confidence and understanding of the members of his own party. Moreover, he is the unrivaled choice of millions of Republicans, whom he has taught to place their country above a party that has betrayed them and their country.

It has been said time and again during this campaign that the only excuse for Hoover's candidacy is to provide an alternative candidate for those who are against Mr. Smith for one reason or another. Why? Because the Republican nominee has pussy-footed, hedged, minced words and dodged a frank discussion of every issue, while his opponent, the Governor of New York State, has come out with candid and unequivocal declaration on every issue. Every voter knows where Mr. Smith stands. Nobody knows where Mr. Hoover stands.

"WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH HOOVER?"

The Republican National Committee has just issued a pamphlet bearing the title: "What's the Matter with Hoover?" As the author of that pamphlet makes a poor showing, he might consult the following utterances of some of the most eminent Republicans. Here is a symposium gathered from leaders of the party with which Mr. Hoover happens to be affiliated at this time—September, 1928:

Senator William E. Borah (Republican) of Idaho, said, page 1663 of the Congressional Record, January 18, 1919:

"I say here upon the floor, and I challenge successful contradiction, that three of the vast monopolies, which control food in this country, have, with relation to their commodities, directed and controlled the Food Administration since its organization * * * He (Hoover) permits those people to, in effect, fix their own prices. * * * I have been utterly amazed at the facts which show how these combines have influenced and controlled the situation."

On the same page and date of the Record, Senator Kenyon (Republican), of Iowa, said:

"I call the Senator's attention to the testimony now being taken before the Agricultural Committee on this question, in which Mr. Heney stated that Mr. Cotton, the eminent lawyer who had charge of the meat end of the packing bureau under Mr. Hoover, stated to him that the profits of the packers for 1917 had been nothing less than a scandal."

Senator Boies Penrose (Republican), of Pennsylvania, said, on page 1795 of the Congressional Record, January 21, 1919:

"How can he (Hoover) be called to account for it? He may never return to the United States. He has been living in England all his life; he owns a palatial establishment there; and more than likely, with the close of the war, he will resume his residence in that island among those congenial foreign surroundings. * * * I am willing to trust the President * * * but I do object to having a non-resident of the United States, who may never return to this country again, * * * made the trustee of this fund."

The following dialogue is found on page 1980 of the Congressional Record of January 24, 1919:

Mr. Borah (Republican): "Mr. Hoover, who violated the most fundamental principles of the Constitution of this country, will not have very much regard for a statute in Europe."

Mr. Lodge: "I do not think Mr. Hoover will pay the slightest attention to the terms of the statute. He was entirely lawless here. He undertook to abolish by his decree the laws of States, with which he had nothing more to do than the Sultan of Turkey, and he will not regard these limitations."

On page 1354 of the Record, January 13, 1919, Representative Will R. Wood, (Republican), of Indiana, said of Mr. Hoover:

"I deny that we have an American at the head of this distributing committee. * * * This statement should be sufficient to condemn him in the minds of all men as being unfit for a responsible position of trust."

Representative Charles Brand (Republican), of Ohio, said in Congress on March 13, 1928:

"Mr. Hoover has been the supreme opponent of agricultural prosperity for the past ten years. He came to this country in 1917 because the English nationals wanted him to come here and secure cheap food for them and the Allies, which he succeeded in doing at the expense of the American farmer."

In an interview printed in the Washington Post on June 11, 1928, wired from Kansas City, Senator Goff (Republican), said:

"No man who lived twenty years under the Union Jack can love the Stars and Stripes. Hoover spent $380,000 in his campaign and $4,600 was used to buy the delegates in Mississippi, $3,000 in Georgia, $2,100 in Florida and $1,000 in Alabama."

Senator Fess (Republican), of Ohio, was quoted in the Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette of February 4, 1928 as saying:

"Hoover must be greatly embarrassed in seeking nomination at the hands of a party he conspired against to defeat in 1918."

On Page 1664 of the Congressional Record, Senator Borah (Republican), showed that the combined profits of five packing companies jumped from $22,108,000 in 1914, to $95,639,000 in 1917.

The New York Times, on April 17, 1920, quoted Gifford Pinchot as saying that Mr. Hoover was opposed to the farmer and that he (Pinchot) frequently heard him abuse the farmers.

HER FORMER HERO!

Whatever may be thought of the judgment or the lack of judgment on the part of Mrs. Mable Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general, in urging Methodist ministers to campaign for Mr. Hoover, it cannot be said that she has been particularly fortunate in the selection of her heroes.

When the United States Senate was demanding of President Coolidge that he dismiss Henry M. Daughterty, his attorney general, because of his unfitness, Mrs. Willebrandt rushed to the defense of that worthy with the following statement:

"There is no man in Washington, not even President Coolidge, who is so fearless and so consistent in his desire to see a strict enforcement of law. Mr. Daugherty has shown no favors and as a result of his undeviating activity in carrying forward enforcement of laws he has made many enemies in both parties and in all classes. I do not believe he is at all connected with the present oil scandal and opposition to him is being put forward now for political reasons only."

Mrs. Willebrandt's opinion of her then chief was quite at variance with that held by the public.

THREE PRESIDENTS AND GOV. SMITH.

Ex-President William H. Taft said:

I am opposed to national prohibition. I am opposed to it because I think it is a mixing of the National Government in a matter which should be one of local settlement. I think sumptuary laws are matters for parochial adjustment. I think it will vest in the National Government and those who administer it so great a power as to be dangerous in political matters.

Joseph P. Tumulty in his book, "Woodrow Wilson as I Knew Him," says:

Time and again when we discussed the Volstead act he would say: "The wrong way of doing the right thing. You cannot regulate the morals and habits of a great cosmopolitan people by placing unreasonable restrictions upon their liberty and freedom. All such attempts can only end in failure and disappointment. In the last analysis in these matters that seek to regulate personal habits and customs public opinion is the great regulator."

John J. Leary, Jr., in his book, "Talks with T. R." quotes Col. Roosevelt as follows:

"Drinking declined once it became an economic question, or at least as soon as it was recognized as an economic factor. It then began to be unfashionable — at least to overdrink—and the man who never drank at all ceased to be unusual in any trade or calling. I am, however, sorry that they are pressing prohibition so hard at this time. It is, I think, all right, desirable, in fact, to limit or perhaps prohibit the so-called hard liquors, but it is a mistake, I think to stop or try to stop the use of beers and the lighter wines."

Commenting on the above expressions and opinions of the three Presidents named, the Baltimore Sun says:

Here are words of three men who sat in the White House during the years that the fight for national prohibition was being made. One of them a man of great judicial experience and poise, the other two the greatest popular leaders since Lincoln. One of them a conservative Republican, one of them a Democratic liberal and one of them a Republican progressive. And each of these former Presidents foresaw the conditions resulting from national prohibition which exists today. Therefore to the honest dry who supported national prohibition in the belief that it would benefit the nation this question may be put:

Is not Alfred E. Smith saying today the things that Taft, Wilson and Roosevelt would say if they were in the arena of political discussion? And if he is saying what they would say, is it not the part of wisdom, would it not be a benefit to the public in which honest drys are sincerely interested, to cease calling black white and to sit down and consider Gov. Smith's recommendations?

It should be remembered that he does not propose to fasten the sale or use of liquor on any one. He simply proposes that as a remedy for the admitted evils and corruption of the day, the people of each State be allowed to determine their own treatment of this matter.

DETERMINED CALL "SPADE A SPADE;" LACKED PUBLICITY

ROAD BUILDING PROGRAM EXPECTED BE CARRIED FORWARD WITHOUT DELAY

Determined to call "a spade a spade" and learn the exact status of the road situation in Navarro County Road District No. 1, an informal meeting of the good roads committee of the Chamber of Commerce, a number of interested citizens, Judge Warren Hicks, County Engineer W. W. McLendon, and Division Maintenance Engineer E. E. Woodward of Waco, was held at the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday afternoon.

The result of the meeting was that a problem that has been jeopardizing the Emhouse project reached a satisfactory settlement, and it was determined that the road to the oil field by the Three-way filling station was being held in abeyance until the State Highway commission finally refused to designate the road to Palestine by Wilcat Ferry as a cardinal road at the request of the road committee of the chamber.

Another hitch in the program was named as the final determination of the route of Federal Highway No. 75 in entering and leaving Corsicana. It was announced that federal and state engineers were in Corsicana Tuesday looking over the possible routes.

Engineering Problems.

Engineer Woodward declared that more engineering problems had confronted the department in termining the course of the federal highway through the county than any section of the country he nad seen for some time. Among the problems were the swamps and creeks that meander over the proposed road site. Amplifying on the division engineers' statement, McClendon recounted the efforts of the engineers to select a practical route and at the same time comply with the terms of the bond election petition.

Taking the situation in the Emhouse sector, the division engineer stated that he had been doing the best that he could to maintain the road without putting on more gravel and an asphalt topping that is the usual means of re-conditioning a road. The reconditioning process would cost about $3000 a mile, and about $300 per mile a year to maintain, the division maintenance head asserted.

According to the present plans, an 18-foot road will be built as far as the country club toward Emhouse, and then a 16-foot road continued perhaps as far as Briar creek, with a nine foot road onto the bridge at the county line. The county officials stated that work had progressed sufficiently that bids could be asked for within the next few weeks.

Want Wider Road.

Some objection had been voiced by residents of Emhouse to the 9-foot road, and legal action had been promised unless wider road was provided. On the motion of R. J. Jackson, following the recommendation of both the county and division officials, it was decided to ask for a hearing at the next meetng of the State Highway commission at Austin on November 19, and send a large delegation down to ask for the state to allow the county the funds that would have been spent on maintenance to use in completing the road as a 16-foot structure. Engineer McClendon stated that it was his opinion that if the same spirit had been shown for the Emhouse project that had been dsplayed on others that the road would have been far advanced at this time. It was the unanimous opinion that the reaction of the state department was likely to be favorable, and that the project was one of countywide interest and not simply local.

It was pointed out that a contract could be let immediately for the building of the dump and the drainage structure from Corsicana to the bridge north, and that in the event that the state did aid in the building of the road, that the work would be materially expedited. It was also brought out by the discussion that this road bear the brunt of the travel until Highway 75 was completed.

Committee Named.

Several members of the committee to Austin were named at the time, including H. R. Stroube, W. C. Stroube, J. D. Cunningham, J. S. Murchison, C. L. Jester, J. E. Butler, N. Tinkle, R. J. Jackson, C. H. Mills, Lowry Martin, J. N Edens, B. H. Jester, Judge Warren Hicks, H. C. Nash, O. M. Boynton, W. W. McClendon, the commissioners court, Ted Ferguson and Roy Christian. Mr. Christian was instructed to write the commisson immediately asking for a hearing at the next meeting.

Discussing the difficulties that had been encountered in the final determination of Highway 75, McClendon stated that numerous surveys had been made, and that some of them would have missed the city entirely had they been used, but that a route had been finally selected that would be suitable. More than the usual number of concessions had been made by the state and federal forces, the engineer stated, in an effort to give the country a real road and at the same time carry out the conditions of the petition.

Need More Money.

When asked as to why Grayson county had been able to get action on their roads so much faster than Navarro, the engineer replied that the majority of the roads in that county were determined before the election. He pointed out that the terms of the petition in Navarro county were working a hardship on the county, and that as the situation stood now, that the county would lack from $75,000 to $100,000 of having sufficient funds to complete the highway, but that the state had said that it would go ahead and build the road and try to get the other projejcts as soon as possible. A number of cut-offs to bring the road to certain designated points both north and south of the city, caused the shortage.

The final work of determining the route as to its entrance and egress from the city was being inspected Tuesday by the state and federal engineers.

Veering to the delay in the building of the road to the oil fields, county officials stated that the matter had been held up at the request of the citizens committee until the project of making ing the road to Palestine by Wildcat Ferry a cardinal had been finally rejected by the state highway commission.

Other Cities Interested.

The matter was put before the commission in September but it was termed a "local" project, and the State engineer had prepared an adverse report. He was asked to hold up the report until further work could be done. Since that time Fort Worth and Beaumont have been interested in the project and a hearing has been granted the Fort Worth delegation on the project on November 19. It was pointed out that if the road were designated that the county would have nothing more to do with it but the state would have charge of the project, and if it was rejected then the conuty would have all of it.

If the road is designated, it was pointed out that the money spent by the county on the project would be returned in the event that the Sterling plan for a statewide bond isue was carried, and the money could be used for other roads or to retire bonds. If the work was started before definite action nad been taken all chances of a refund were killed. A number of differences in the construction of the road under state and county plans were explained.

Ready to Start Work.

The question was raised as to whether or not the delay in building the road was a breach of faith with the people living in the oil fields who needed the road as soon as possible. It was answered by various parties, who explained that a road connecting with Palestine would be of inestimable value. Judge Hicks announced that the commissioners court was ready to ask for bids on the project, and in the event that the state rejected the proposition, that work would start immediaely.

Another hitch in this road was the designation of the southern entrance of Highway 75 to Corsicana.

The entire meeting was carried out in a very friendly fashion, and differences between various parties were stated, and every effort made to reach an agreement. Near the close of the meeting, Chairman Jackson speaking for the committee, asserted that the greater part of the dissension and "street talk" that had been heard recently was due to lack of publicity given the work underway by the interested parties, and was the result of a misunderstanding rather than slackness of effort or delay by either the commissioner's court, county engineer or the road committee of the chamber.

Among those present at the meeting were J. N. Edens, C. H. Mills, R. J. Jackson, J. M. Dyer, Sr., Lowry Martin, J O. Burke, Clyde Foster, J. Elmer Butler, M. H. Dewitt, O. M. Boynton, Bige Tinkle, C. L. Jester, E. H. Jester, George E. Jester, J. D. Cunningham, W. C. Stroube, A. G. Elliott, H. R. Stroube, H. C. Nash, Dr. F. P. Culver, Monte Davidson, P. D. Williams, T. J. Hickey, Judge Warren Hicks, J. S. Murchison, W. Roy Christian, Ted Ferguson, J. B. Fortson, S. J. Jackson, W. P. McCammon, W. W. McClendon, E. E. Woodard, Waco.

MOSES IN WARM RETORT TO RASKOB ON CERTAIN LETTER

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, vice chairman of the Republican Eastern advisory committee issued a statement today in comment on a letter sent by John J. Raskob, Democratic national chairman, to Dr. Hubert Work, Republican national chairman, in which Raskob charged that persons associated with Dr. Work's committee were promoting attacks on Gov. Smith because of his religion. Raskob enclosed a photostatic copy of the letter purporting to be from Senator Moses to "Hon. Zeb Vance Walser, Lexington, Ky." in which an article Raskob called viciously anti-Catholic was referred to as "red hot stuff."

"Who is this John J. Raskob who seems to be so agitated because a Southern Democrat his written something which I thought might be 'hot stuff.'" Senator Moses asked in his statement.

"He is the chairman of the Democratic national committee whose St. Louis headquarters have been busy for weeks in flooding certain sections of the country with vicious attacks upon Mr. Hoover's religious faith. These attacks have been sent out officially under the seal of the sign-manual of Mr. Raskob's committee.

"Why is it that in these closing days of the campaign Mr. Raskob and his candidate seem to be taking the field like the Mohammedans unfurling the green flag with the flying horses' tail and proclaiming a holy war? Is it because the cause is lost upon every issue which should develop a political campaign and because of the desperation of all drowning men that clutch at straws.

"If Mr. Raskob's ethical sense is so fine and his general sensibilities so readily aroused it might be worth while to ask how it happens that he has my mail. Did he himself rifle the mails or did some of his Tammany stool pigeons do it for him?"

Mr. Raskob, commenting on Senator Moses' statement, said:

"My reputation is too well established to be injured by a man like Senator Moses charging me with pilfering the United States mails and calling me names. His statement is no answer to my letter to the chairman of the Republican national committee who is the man I think all the people hold responsible for the proper conduct of the Republican campaign."

COURTHOUSE NEWS.

District Court.

The jury for the week Monday afternoon was excused until Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Monday afternoon the bond of G. R. Benefield, charged by indictment with the alleged violation of the prohibition laws, was forfeited and orders issued for his arrest when he was not present at the hearing on his motion for a change of venue after a motion for a continuance was overruled by Hawkins Scarborough, district judge. After the Court had waited for some time for his appearance, his $1000 bond signed by J. W. Follis of Jester and T. M. Colton of Drane, was forfeited. Tuesday morning Benefield had not been apprehended, officers at the sheriff's office announced. District Judge Scarborough reset the case for Wednesday morning in the event that he is arrested by that time. The state announced ready in the case Monday morning and a continuance was asked due to the illness of J. R. Curington, one of his attorneys.

Justice Court.

Judge Sam B. Jordan fined a person for swindling and one for vagrancy late Monday. A male friend of the woman charged with vagrancy appeared with a local attorney to pay the fine of the woman in jail and wished to pay the same with a check. After Jailer Clyde Wilkes had refused to accept the check in payment, the local attorney, who had accompanied the man to the jail, stood for the check being good and the woman was released. It was developed Tuesday morning that the check was "hot" and the bank on which it was drawn said that the man had no account there. A warrant for the arrest of the woman was issued Tuesday morning. It is understood that the man also gave the attorney a check of the same character as that given the jailer.

Tuesday morning the attorney was as much or more interested in getting his client back in jail as he was in getting her out of the bastile Monday night.

A TRANSPLANTED FLOWER
(Maurine Ashmore—As I Saw Her.)

Peacefully she reposed, a piece of sculpture,
Chiseled from marble by the hand of a god;
The rose had faded from her fair cheek,
But she was not less beautiful as the lily,
A sweeter smile never played on human lips,
And if I ever say the soul it was there,
Whose deep slumber could be more lovely,
Though embraced by arms cold and lonely?
Not lovely like the gloss of sham gold,
But in all the beauty of mind and soul,
Her stainless, gentle and tender heart
Were as clear to me as her faultless features,
No unkind or unchaste thought lurked there;
And her riches were her many graces;
And all the pomp and opulence of Dives
Compares not with the worth of her example.
Let us hope some great purpose has been served
In paying the dear price of this sweet life.
No eye could look upon this cleft bud
And not get an inspiration from heaven.
Who could view this angelic picture
And then doubt man's immortal nature?
Never was heart so cold or so dead
That would not bleed when this spirit fled!
Never grew in garden fairer flower,
Nor brighter star illumined dark hour!
The works of God are not destined to doom,
And this transplanted flower is still in bloom.

—A Friend.

In Step With the Whole World Toward Mankind's Better Day

Sunday Schools Around The Globe Celebrate World's Temperance Sunday — Glimpses of Social Progress Everywhere.

BY WILLIAM T. ELLIS

New ideas scare some folk. There were many good Romans in Paul's day who had grave questionings about this new sect of Christians. More than once Christianity has been persecuted simply because it was new. A certain type of mind wants to blacklist everybody who thinks unconventionally; forgetting the dictum of the wise Frenchman, "I disagree with everything you say; but I will defend with my life your right to say it."

Most radical and aggressive of all the interpreters of the Gospel of Jesus was the Apostle Paul. There is significance in the simple fact that it was he who wrote to the Roman Christians, dwellers under the shadow of Caesar's palace, about the relation of the new faith of governments. Although the Gospel was new, it was not subversive of authority. Throughout the ages the best Christians have ever been the best patriots. Only when governmentsernments become tyrannous and corrupt and intolerant have Christians revolted or emigrated.

At best, all political problems are social and moral problems. Governments have a natural tendency to become professionalized; and it is a rude shock to officialdom to see such vast upheavals and overturns as the Russian and Chinese revolutions, which are popular assertions of primal human rights. Politicians and office holders sometimes forget that the welfare of the people is a more important business of government than the maintenance of any regime or party or system

The New-Old World War

Without relation to any nation's political campaigns, the International Sunday School Lesson committee every year recognizes World's Temperance Sunday, when the cause of temperance, which has been fathered from the first by all the churches, Protestant and Roman Catholic, is studied from the Christian and Scriptural standpoint. Father Mathew ranks with Frances Willard as a pioneer leader in this crusade. Before ever the present new mood of internationalism had come over mankind, this battle for the betterment of society was being fought on a world-wide front.

Hand in hand with the movement of missions has gone the struggle for a sober society. There is a temperance or prohibition movement in every land on earth today.

The case against strong drink has been proved up to the hilt: whenever it prevails it has hurt humanity. Because of concern for little children and for mothers and for mankind and for homes, the followers of Jesus have been led into this war against alcohol. Concededly, the one valid argument in favor of liquor has been that of self-indulgence. Persons who refuse to yield allegiance to the Christian law of self-denial for the sake of others are the opponents of the temperance movement. On both sides of the struggle there has been bitterness and intolerance and lack of charity and a strange mixture of motives: yet reduced to its elements, the contending forces are brotherly love versus self-indulgence. "Love worketh no ill to his neighbor; therefore love is the fulfilling of the law."

Fire-Extinguishers Filled With Oil

Philadelphia's shame has been broadcast to the whole world by the recent revelations of the relation of police graft to the liquor traffic, a partnership that developed long ago in the days of the legalized saloon. So sensational have been the exposures of widespread police corruption, high and low, that even calloused and indifferent citizens have been aroused. When law-enforcement goes into partnership with lawbreaking, it is exactly as if a building's fire-extinguishers were filled with kerosene. Supposed protection becomes only an increased peril.

What is there about this business of booze that causes it to seek alliance with politics and with the police? The trial of the traffic has been traced, in many countries, up into cabinets of governments and courts of law. There is abundant reason, in both American and Europe, why the social problem of temperance should have become the political issue of prohibition. No nation may serenely contemplate the possibility of its fire-extinguishers being filled with deadly inflammables.

"Dreamers, Dreaming Greatly"

In a famous phrase, Disraeli once cried, "I am on the side of the angels." Our day has seen amazing recruits to the side of the angels: the messengers of a higher life. All the world is now widely sown with men and women who are foes of war and lovers of peace; who are advocates of popular rights and welfare and enemies of all special privilege; who crusade for the cause of education and of temperance; and who dream the great dreams of a world of brotherhood, peace and sobriety. These men and women are the advance agents of mankind's better day. Once in a Constantinople commencement address, I heard them pictured as "The Fellowship of Hope." And most of these persons are avowed disciples of Jesus.

Ultimate victory for these warriors of welfare is as sure as the promises of God. Nobody who knows what is really going on in contemporary life can deny that these forward-looking servants of righteousness and good will are the greatest present force in universal human society. In Asia, as well as in Europe and America their influence steadily increases. They won the ancient war against slavery. They are winning the struggle for the lifting of an immemorial yoke from the necks of women and children. They have won great battles for the abolition of the curses of drink and drugs. Already they have seen fulfilled many of the visions of the sheers and sages, the prophets and the poets. Their message is that of Paul in this lesson (I quote the Moffatt Translation):—

"And then you know what this Crisis means, you know it is high time to waken up; for Salvation is nearer to us now than when we first believed. It is far on in the night, the day is almost here; so let us drop the deeds of darkness and put on the armour of the light; let us live decorously as in the open light of day—no revelry or bouts of drinking, no debauchery or sensuality, no quarreling or jealousy. No, put on the character of the Lord Jesus Christ, and never think how to gratify the cravings of the flesh."

A Chinese Prophecy

Many years ago, in the midst of a Chinese famine, I was accosted by one of the starving refugees, an old, old man, a Buddhist, with deep eyes and the air of a philosopher; who said to me, with great solemnity, "Help my people! If you Americans help my people now, in some future incarnation my people will help you.

That aged Chinese set forth the new world principle of inter-relation, that was best expressed in the Scripture's "None of us liveth to himself, and none of us dieth to himself." Nowaways every nation must share its best with every other nation. We help, and are helped. Whenever one nation solves a great social problem, it assists its neighbor to the same solution. America's drastic prohibition law has had an immense influence in Great Britain and upon the Continent and in Asia. Today humanity is so bound together in the bundle of life that we must all ultimately stand or fall together. And this sense of interdependence, when animated by Christian good will, is the surest hope of a peaceful, prosperous, sober world.

PLANS ARE LAID FOR ANNUAL ROLL CALL OF RED CROSS

WILBUR WRIGHT HAS BEEN NAMED AS CHAIRMAN OF CAMPAIGN IN COUNTY

Preliminary organization for the annual Red Cross Roll Call campaign was completed at a meeting held at the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday morning. Wilbur Wright was announced as the membership chairman, and committees were appointed to supervise the soliciting of the residence sections of the city and for the placing of booths at stragetic positions in th ebusiness section, during the two days of the campaign, November 13-14.

W. H. Hastings, chairman of the Navarro County Red Cross council, presided at the meeting and announced that the quota assigned Corsicana and Navarro county this year was 1,000 memberships. Last year's enrollment figures were announced as 300.

Plans were announced for the establishment of booths in the hotels and banks under the direction of Mrs. G. G. Thorne, who will also supervise the work of these booths. The majority of the stores in the business district will be solicited by some member of the sales force of that store. It was agreed that a committee should supervise the canvassing of the residence districts, and Chairman Hastings appointed a group composed of Mrs. J. T. Newsom, chairman, Mrs. W. D. Cross, Mrs. Harry Kaufman, and Mrs. Tom Lovett to arrange the details of this part of the drive.

Posters will be put on display the latter part of the week, and will be co-ordinated with a campaign through the press and on the bill-boards. Pastors of the Corsicana churches will be asked to call attention to the campaign from their pulpits on Sunday, November 11.

Among those attending the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hastings, Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Ellis, J. M. Dyer, Sr., Clyde Foster, Wilbur Wright, W. C. Ralston, Lowry Martin, Roy Christian, and Mesdames J. T. Newsom, Alfred Goldman, Ben Blackmon, Tom Lovett, W. D. Cross, S. H. Burnett, Harry Kaufman, Billy Binford, Gilbert Thorne, Sidney Story and Misses Bertha Hoffman, Julia Callicutt, and Helen Robbins.

ENTIRE ELECTION BOARD REMOVED BY OHIO STATE OFFICER

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 30.—(P)—The entire Cuyahoga county election board was removed from office today by Clarence J. Brown, secretary of state, and the duties of the board were taken over by his office, for alleged irregularities in the August primary election.

Brown's action went beyond a recent recommendation of a special grand jury, in that it included Mrs. Bernice S. Pyke, democratic national committee woman from Ohio and a member of the board. The grand jury, which last Friday charged the board with malfeasance and irregularities in the conduct of the August 14 primary, had excepted Mrs. Pyke from its recommendations that the remaining three members of the board and its employes be removed.

U. S. DISTRICT ATTORNEY PROBING POLITICAL MUDDLE

HOUSTON, Oct. 30.—(P)— The federal government has no jurisdiction over the question of barring from a ballot candidates for state and county offices, H. M. Holden, United States district attorney, today advised Mayor F. B. Freeland of McAllen, leader of the Hidalgo county "committee for election relief."

Mr. Holden pointed out that "definite charges", of violation of or conspiracy to violate federal statutes must be made to warrant a federal investigation and that allegations of specific violations had not been made by the committee in its message to him yesterday.

"If voters were being carted away forcibly from the polls in a state election, there's nothing the federal government could do about it," Mr. Holden said. "So far as I know, there has been no attempt in Hidalgo county to keep names of candidates for national offices or of party presidential electors off the ballot."

HOUSTON, Oct. 30. —(P)—Henry M. Holden of Houston, United States district attorney, today was examining the Hidalgo county political muddle to determine whether a federal investigation was warranted.

Mr. Holden yesterday received a message from Attorney General John Sargent ordering him to investigate. Barring of candidates of the "citizens-republican" ticket and wholesale voting of unqualified Mexicans in past elections were the chief charges presented to government officials.

A committee of Hidalgo county citizens charged "ring domination" of elections in a telegram to Mr. Holden yesterday.

The matter was referred to Mr. Holden after President Coolidge had received nearly 2,000 telegrams from Hidalgo citizens protesting against political conditions in their county.

Charles McPhail, only department of justice agent stationed in Houston, was not in the city today. He left yesterday after receiving several telegrams but his destination was not revealed.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our heartfelt and sincere appreciation for the many kind acts and words of sympathy and also for the many floral offerings of our many friends during recent illness and death of our dear wife and mother. The many kind words and deeds lightened our burden in that dark hour.

John Crotty, E. R. Crotty and W. E. Crotty.

INDIAN PLUNDERS TO REPAY WHITES FOR EARLY THEFTS

THREE ARE UNDER SIX INDICTMENTS IN CALDWELL COUNTY FOR ROBBERY

LOCKHART, Oct. 30.—(P)—Joe Revis, 27-year-old Indian from Jamaica, Vt., who is under several indictments charging him with the looting of Fentress, Texas, Friday night, was only repaying the white man who plundered the properties of the Indians. This was Revis' explanation for the whosale looting of the town.

"White people robbed and killed my people and took their land away from them, and I don't believe I did any wrong in returning the deed," Revis said after his examining trial yesterday.

An Indian woman who claims to own four oil wells in Oklahoma who has been here since midnight Sunday told Sheriff W. E. Ellison that she would do anything she could to help Revis. She said that she could lay her hands on $50,000 at once to help Revis if necessary.

Revis, Fred Thomas, 27, of Kansas City, and Santos Hernandez of Laferia, Texas, were indicted by the Caldwell county grand jury six times yesterday, two of the indictments charging theft of more than $50, three of them burglary and one of them robbery with firearms. Revis, at his examining trial sought to exonerate Hernandez. If bond is requested a hearing to set it will be held Tuesday.

TEST JUST SOUTH OF MEXIA WILL BE DRILLED DEEPER

Arrangements have been completed for the deepening of the Stroud No. 1, just south of Mexia, C. W. Hicks of Fort Worth announced while in Corsicana Tuesday. A deal has been made with the Magnolia Petroleum company to extend the test to 4300 feet.

The test was drilled to the first Woodbine sand several months ago, picking up that formation about 2964 feet, after encountering some gas and water. New plans call for the drill to go through the Edwards lime into the Glen Rose formation, probably around 4300 feet, unless oil or gas in paying quantities is found at a lesser depth, Mr. Hicks said. R. H. Dearing & Sons, drilling contractors of Dallas, have the contract for the well and are expected to start operations in a few days.

The well is located south of Mexia on the north bank of the Navasota river between the Baines Creek gas field and the old Mexia pool near the reunion grounds; it is about half a mile west of the Mary Focke No. 1 drilled to 4450 feet by the Humphries company of Houston several years ago.

KENT-MIDDLETON REFINERY AT ANGUS SCENE OF EARLY MORNING FIRE WEDNESDAY

A flashback that ignited oil in a still threatened for a time to destroy the Kent-Middleton Refinery at Angus, six miles south of Corsicana, shortly after 8 o'clock Wednesday morning. A favorable wind that blew the flames away from the remainder of the plant, and the aid of a chemical truck from the Corsicana Fire department brought the fire under control about 9:30. Damage was estimated at about $1,000.

Operation of the No. 1 still had been shut down Tuesday evening for repairs on a leaking pipe, and workmen resumed their efforts early Wednesday morning. A leaky valve between the two stills had allowed a quantity of oil to seep into the still, and this became ignited. No one was injured.

The first fire had been brought under control, when a second flash ignited the structure again, and it became necessary to summon aid from the Corsicana fire department to reinforce the diminishing chemical supply at the refinery.

A brisk wind swept the flames away from the remainder of the plant. Should the wind have been from another direction the flames would have reached several tanks of gasoline, kerosene and crude oil within a short distance of the stills.

Work of repairing the damage from the fire was started immediately, and will probably be completed late Thursday, officials of the refinery stated after the blaze.

ROBERT LANSING, SECRETARY STATE, DURING WAR, DIES

LAST OF THREE FIGURES LOOMING LARGE IN FOREIGN POLICY PASSES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. (AP)—The last of three figures that bulked large in the enunciation of American foreign policy during the critical days of the world war and the period that immediately preceded the great conflict has gone.

Having claimed Woodrow Wilson and William Jennings Bryan, death late yesterday overtook Bryan's successor as secretary of state, Robert Lansing, who held the portfolio during the entire time that America was one of the belligerent nations and resigned upon receiving a rebuke from President Wilson.

For several years Mr. Lansing had suffered from a heart ailment described by his physician as myocarditsi.

Robert Lansing was a life-long student of government, diplomacy and international law. Bryan's celebrated break with Wilson, arising from a disagreement as to what the official American attitude toward the tragedy of the Lusitania should be, found Mr. Lansing holding the post of counsellor of the state department. With Bryan's resignation, he was promoted to the cabinet and was faced at once with the intricacies of what already was a tense international situation.

Disagrees With Wilson.

As with his predecessor, Mr. Lansing's tenure of office ended in disagreement with President Wilson. In Mr. Lansing's case the break was brought on, ostensibly by his action in calling a meeting of the cabinet while the president was ill. A sharp exchange with his chief followed and when the documents were made public they included Mr. Lansing's resignation.

However, there are some who assert that the Lansing-Wilson disagreement antedated the cabinet meeting incident and that on several occasions they were hardly in accord. In this connection, Lansing's statement in 1917 that the United States was being drawn daily nearer and nearer to the World war is mentioned and it is asserted that there were differences as to the Paris peace treaty, the League of Nations covenant and Mexican policy.

At any rate, with the cabinet meeting came the breaking point. Rumors of an alarming nature as to Mr. Wilson's condition were being given wide circulation at the time and there was gossip of congressional action to turn the executive duties over to Vice President Marshall, all of which was quickly discredited.

President Displeased.

In such an atmosphere the cabinet meeting was called. President Wilson learned of it through his secretary and was deeply perturbed. Rear Admiral Carey T. Grayson, Wilson's personal physician, was sent to the meeting to determine its purpose. Grayson was plied with questions, and in response declared that Mr. Wilson was in complete possession of his faculties and was anxious to learn by what authority the meeting had been called.

As the tale at the time ran, Grayson was informed by Lansing's associates before he himself could reply, that the cabinet members only wished to inquire at to the president's health and send him a message of loyalty.

That particular meeting adjourned at once, but others followed, which some believe the president did not know of. However, on February 13, 1920, the communications that had passed between the secretary of state and his chief, including Lansing's resignation, were given to the public.

Mr. Lansing was 64 years of age. He was born at Watertown, New York, and was a graduate of Amherst College and a lawyer by profession.

Tenure in Stormy Period.

Robert Lansing, secretary of state in President Wilson's cabinet from June 23, 1915, to February 13, 1920, held that office during one of the most stormy and trying periods of American history. Appointed to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Secretary Bryan, he was confronted in turn, during his tenure of office, with the difficult problems arising from the position of the United States as a neutral power during the World war, the diplomatic activities of a belligerent nation, and the responsibilities of the ranking member, after President Wilson himself, of the American commission to negotiate peace at Paris.

The end of Mr. Lansing's term came dramatically in February, 1920, when President Wilson demanded his resignation on the ground that Mr. Lansing had usurped the presidential authority by calling cabinet meetings during Mr. Wilson's illness. The exchange of letters between Mr. Wilson and Mr. Lansing disclosed that for many months the president and his secretary of state had not been in accord on foreign policies, and that the president demanded someone "whose mind," as the president wrote, "would more willingly go along with mine." It was recalled that the divergence of opinion had become pronounced during the peace conference in Paris. In testimony before the senate foreign relations committee, William C. Bullitt, an attache of the state department who headed a mission to Soviet Russia during the conference, declared that Mr. Lansing told him in Paris he did not agree with President Wilson in putting the covenant of the League of Nations and the peace treaty into one document. Mr. Lansing predicted, Bullitt read from his diary, that the treaty would fail if the American people ever learned of its full import.

Lansing Ignored.

Further evidence of the strained relations between the president and his secretary was seen in the failure of the president to confer with Mr. Lansing after his return from a nation-wide tour in October, 1919, although he saw other cabinet officers and government officials.

The views of President Wilson and Secretary Lansing on the Mexican question also were at wide variance. A virtual ultimatum sent by Secretary Lansing to the Carranza government in connection with the case of Consul W. O. Jenkins was repudiated by the president when the issue was crystalized by the introduction in the senate of a resolution by Senator Fall requesting the president to sever diplomatic relations with Mexico.

An international lawyer by profession, Mr. Lansing spent all the active years of his life in a diplomatic atmosphere. His father-in-law, John W. Foster, was secretary of state in President Harrison's cabinet, the author of textbooks on international law and diplomatic usage, and minister to China.

Mr. Lansing entered the state department March 27, 1914, as counselor after having represented the government on arbitration commissions almost continuously since 1892, when he was made associate counsel in the Bering Sea arbitration.

He was born at Watertown, N. Y., Oct. 17, 1864, was graduated from Amherst College (A. B.) 1886, and was admitted to the bar in 1889, practicing law at Watertown three years.

Mr. Lansing was the author of "Government, Its Origin, Growth and Form in the United States," and numerous diplomatic papers, as well as of songs, poems and several short stories.

GREATEST POLICE SHAKEUP RECORDED PLANNED BY MAYOR

PHILADELHIA, Oct. 31. (AP)—The greatest police shakeup in the history of American municipalities, so extensive that it will amount to the formation of nearly an entirely new force, is planned by Mayor Harry A. Mackey in an effort to rid the bureau of "grafters" as revealed by the grand jury investigating organized lawlessness and police corruption.

After ordering the suspension and trial by the civil service commission of three police inspectors, 18 captains and one detective, declared "unfit to hold any public office" by the grand jury, the mayor announced today that he had worked out plans for a complete reorganization of the bureau of police.

The plan contemplates the dismissal of every member of the force against whom even a suspicion of dishonesty has been directed by the grand jury and dismissal or demotion of every man not exposed by the investigation, but whose record shows derelictions of duty and inefficiency. It also includes the formation of a new ranking slate, with promotion based on efficiency rather than senority, and th edemotion of ranking officers who have failed to measure up to executive duties to the rank of patrolmen with attendant loss of pay.

Hit and Run Driver Ran Over Man Late Monday on Commerce

One charge of intoxication, one for intoxication and disturbing the peace, one for vagrancy and one for running over a stop signal appeared on the police blotter Tuesday morning for the action of the corporation court.

Robert Childress reported to the police department that someone took his Ford coupe from its parking place near the Palace theatre Monday night.

John Kelley was run over by an automobile on North Commerce street about 6 o'clock Monday evening by a Ford coupe. The driver of the car did not stop and has not been definitely identified. Kelly was taken to the Navarro County Hospital, where it was found that he was not seriously injured and was able to leave immediately.

Suit For Damages Against Contractors Is Nearing Close

MEXIA, Nov. 1.—(Sp)—Limestone county's lengthy damage suit against Bramer and Wilder construction company of Houston, contractors on roads in Mexia precinct is expected to close soon. The defense has rested it's case and rebuttal by the plaintiff is nearly over.

All evidence will have been completed by the end of the week, the ninth week of the trial, it is estimated. Judge W. R. Boyd of the 87th district court, whose court is hearing the case, will instruct the jury and arguments will take about a week. The county seeks about $300,000.

EL PASO MATRON KILLED IN AUTO CRASH TUESDAY

EL PASO, Oct. 31.—(AP)—A young El Paso society matron was killed and three other persons were injured last night when an automobile in which they were going to a club dance at West Ysleta skidded on a turn and crashed into a power line pole.

Mrs. Robert L. Howze, who had been married less than ten months, was injured fatally, dying a few hours later. Her husband, Lieutenant Howze, Miss Augusta Leeper and Lieutenant William Nutter were injured.

Lieut. Howze is attached to the Eighth Cavalry here. He is the son of the late General Robert L. Howze.

PROHIBITION!

THE ISSUE ON WHICH NAVARRO COUNTY MINISTERS OPPOSE GOVERNOR SMITH.

November the 6th, 1928, is destined to become an historic day. It will witness a step forward or backward on the greatest moral issue America has faced since the days of slavery. That issue is prohibition. It is not a new question. Prohibitionists fought for it for more than fifty years before it became the law of the land. Though it is not the only issue in this campaign, Gov. Smith's personal attitude on the subject has made it the paramount issue before the American people at this time.

Prohibition is a moral question and this explains our interest in this election. We are not concerned over the personal political fortunes of any candidate. neither are we willing to put party loyalty above the highest welfare of our country. We intend voting for Mr. Hoover because we believe the election of Mr. Smith, with his avowed intentions, would be nothing short of disastrous to the future of Prohibition. If Mr. Smith were elected, he would claim the people of the United States are against Prohibition and with the tremendous prestige of the office of President and the powerful backing of the liquor interests, he would, in our opinion, have a good chance to bring about what would amount to the practical nullification of the 18th Amendment. Prohibition has meant too much to the economic, social and moral welfare of our country, to take any such risk, and the people of this country will never take such a risk. We feel that it is wiser to settle this question in the defeat of one man than to have to fight it over again in most of the 500 or more senatorial and congressional districts throughout the United States.

Verbal and printed statements have been persistently circulated that the ministers of Navarro county "have back-tracked on their early stand in this campaign." This is not the case. We have not been noisy and do not mean to be in the future. We do hereby, as moral leaders, re-affirm our conviction that the moral welfare of our great country will be best served in the defeat of Mr. Smith and the election of Mr. Hoover to the Presidency, of the United States. Our votes shall be cast accordingly.

To Presiding Officer of Election:

The general election will be held Tuesday, November 6th.

Just as soon as the figures are available at your box, phone the Corsicana Daily Sun office at Corsicana, the totals.

Phone collect. Just tell your telephone operator you want the Corsicana Daily Sun at Corsicana, collect.

It is very important the results be phoned the Sun office without delay, where the reports will be tabulated and the total figures given to the public.

The Sun will handle the election in the same manner as the primary elections are handled.

MONTHLY REPORT ACTIVITIES LOCAL SALVATION ARMY

NUMEROUS STREET AND OUT-POST MEETINGS DURING PAST MONTH

The monthly report of the local Salvation Army corps for month ending October 28, shows that Captain Geo. W. Thomas, officer in charge of the local work, and his co-workers have put forth a very strenuous effort to present the message of gospel truths to the masses.

During the last four weeks 21 street services have been conducted, 11 outpost meetings, 19 indoor meetings, and 12 young people's meetings, making a total of 63 services conducted with a total attendance of 5190, four conversions have been registered; 105 War Crys have been distributed in the hospitals and county farm.

Positions have been secured for seven women and two men, medical aid has been given one family, clothing has been supplied to five families and 37 garments have been distributed, meals were supplied to ten persons, and lodging provided for 21.

The financial report for the month is as follows: Collections $64.45, tithes $6.00, donations $7.50, outpost (collections in services conducted in nearby towns) $79.95 profits from sale of War Crys $3.43, budget $120.00, and young peoples work $3.64; total receipts of $290.97. Balance on hand $18.63, making a grand total of $309.60.

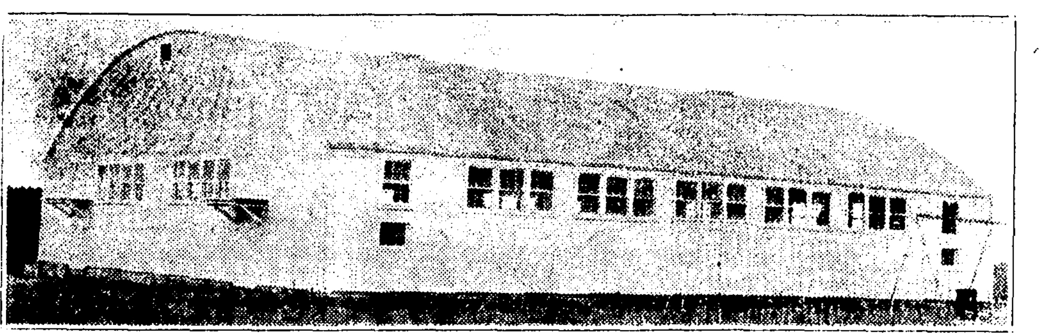
Disbursements. Light and water $8.29, divisional oversight $28.52 sick benefit fund $3.55, telephone, postage, etc., $8.70, furniture $34.95, band 85c, auto upkeep $12, officers' salary $107.72, outpost $6, special meetings $30.65, young people $17.44, relief $29.50; total expenditures $288.17. Balance on hand $21.43, grand total $309.60; total liabilities $214.93.

Boys Are Charged Breaking Lights

Two boys were arrested in the western residence section for breaking out lights at street intersections. Officers have been watching for several weeks in an effort to catch the guilty parties.

Three charges of intoxication, and one for intoxication and disturbing the peace indicated that all of the "spirits" were not kept indoors by the heavy rainfall Wednesday evening. One charge of parking in a fire line was also recorded.

NEW PROVIDENCE SCHOOL GYMNASIUM COMPLETED



The Providence gymnasium pictured above, recently completed at an estimated cost of $12,500 is one of the best in the state. The building is 80x100 feet and has a playing court 48x84, the ideal size, according to the dimensions set forth by the National Rules Committee. 1,000 people can be seated comfortably in the large building.

Formal opening will be held Friday, November 2nd. A program consisting of basketball games and speeches will be presented at that time. At a recent meeting, the building was named "McGym," and the slogan or motto adopted was "For Providence I Will."

GOVERNMENT REPORTS FOUR PER CENT MORE TURKEYS THIS YEAR THAN REPORTED IN 1927

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 30.—The 1928 turkey crop is the leading producing states as a whole is about 4 percent larger than the 1927 crop and about as large as the 1926 crop, according to the report on the turkey crop issued by the United States department of agriculture. Most of the North Central states produced more turkeys this year than last, and there was a big increase in production in the Western states, but all of the Southern states produced a smaller number this year than last. In contrast to this indicated increase in turkey production, a recent report issued by the department shows a decrease of young chickens on farms, October 1, compared to October 1, 1927.

The large increase in production in the Western states was due in considerable part to the development of commercial hatching and sale of day-old poults which has reached a considerable scale during the last two years in some states. Because of the large proportion of the production in this area that is shipped by rail it is possible that the increase in the commercial market supply may be somewhat larger than the indicated increase in the crop.

Weather conditions on the whole were more favorable to turkey production this year than last fall in all areas except in the south, although excessive rains and cool weather in June caused considerable losses in many sections. With feed supplies plentiful and relatively cheap, if the weather continues favorable the condition of the crop by the end of November should be average or better.

A table attached to the government gave the estimated size of this year's turkey crop in comparison with last season's crop, as well as other statistical features. The Texas crop this year is placed at 98 per cent of the crop last year, or an estimate of a 2 per cent decrease.

First Air Mail Out Laredo Brings Letter Former Kernsite

KERENS, Oct. 30.—(Spl.)— Laredo's first air mail service was effected Saturday, and in the first pouch leaving the city for Dallas was a letter from Carroll Bass, formerly of this city, addressed to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ivey. The missive reached Kerens Monday, and was the first letter to be received by air mail by the Ivey family.

Young Bass spent the summer months here with Mr. and Mrs. Ivey after his family had moved to Laredo. You can imagine the thrill of both the sender and the receivers of their first air mail service.

Captain Chas. Pedley, a former Corsicana resident, and who is well known in Kerens, is flying the route from Laredo to Dallas in the employ of the Texas Air Transport Incorporated service. But it is not know whether he flew the ship that brought the Iveys their first air mail letter.

SUPERVISORS FOR ALL PRECINCTS IN ELECTION ASKED

Warren Hicks, county judge, announced Thursday morning that both the Democrats and Republicans had filed applications for supervisors at the majority of the precincts in Navarro county next Tuesday, Nov. 6, at the general election. The application for the Democrats was filed by C. H. DeLafosse, county chairman, and Mose Blumrosen, county chairman of the Republicans. Wednesday was the last day in which the application for the supervisors could be filed. The lists of supervisors for the election will likely be announced by the respective chairman within the next day or two.

All election supplies for the county have been prepared and have been delivered to the sheriff's office. A number of the supplies have been delivered to the election judges and the remainder will be delivered in ample time, it was stated at the sheriff's office.

Road Conditions Are Extremely Bad

Heavy going roads in all directions out of Corsicana was reported Thursday morning following another inch of rainfall Wednesday afternoon and night. Reports from Dallas indicated that the rain was general and roads over the state were heavy and slow.

Traffic to Dawson, Mexia, Hillsboro and Kerens was inadvisable, and travel was reaching Dallas with extreme difficulty by way of Waxahachie.

STATE HOME WILL PLAY TEAGUE HERE FRIDAY AFTERNOON

CORSICANA JUNIORS CLASH WITH PALESTINE JUNIORS FRIDAY

The executive committee of District 14, University of Texas Interscholastic league, refused to allow the protest lodged by the coach of the Ennis high school in connection with the recent State Home-Ennis game played here and won by State Home 6-0, according to an announcement Tuesday morning at the State Home. A meeting of the executive committee was held in Mexia Monday afternoon on the case.

The Ennis team protested the game on the fact that the winning touchdown was alleged to have been made after the time was up. The ruling of the executive committee was that the officials' decision as to the time could not be questioned.

The State Home is undefeated in the district competition with one victory over Ennis. Friday afternoon, the State Home Lads will clash with the Teague club at the State Home gridiron at 3:30 o'clock in another district combat. Corsicana high school defeated Teague 72-0 and downed the State Home club, 63-13. However, the Tigers played Teague later in the season than the State Home and this should result in a bitterly contested battle. State Home is working hard this week in preparation for the battle and will make a supreme effort to gain another victory. The team ran into unexpected opposition Saturday with the Knights of Pythias club and should be in tip-top condition for this fray.

Corsicana-Palestine.

In another game to be played in Corsicana Friday afternoon, the Corsicana Junior High School Lads will clash with the Palestine Juniors at Tiger Field at 330 o'clock. The local team is working hard for this game and should be in the best of condition for the game. No serious injuries were noted in the encounter with the Frost team here last Thursday afternoon.

Jones County Carries Big Road Bond Issue

ANSON, Oct. 30.—Jones county voters yesterday approved of $750,000 highway bond issue by more than two to one. In spite of the chilly blasts more than 1,000 friends of the bond issue went to the polls and not more than 400 enemies of the measure appeared.

Characters in P. T. A. Play Are Very Interesting

Following are some of the main features and characters in "Rosetime,' 'to be seen at the High School Friday evening:

Though the director, J. Dillingham Jones, (Charley Young) has to show Percy (Perry McCammon) how to register "love," "fear" and "repose," he needs no help to register "pain" when the bee stings him.

Props O'Rielly (Arthur Wareing) is always forehanded. He knows "a joint where you can get a good meal and an overcoat for thirty cents."

Pa Perkins (Roy Christian) doesn't care for the gossips Julia Jones and Lizzine Brown, (Kate Holman and Mrs. Karl Kumke), he says, "May the Lord take a liking to you, I can't."

Babe Brunette (Vania Crowther) smells a rat when Jones (Charles Young) forgets the pay checks.

Jerry (Roy Leeds) is right there when Rose (Francis Redden) wishes the Lord would make her a man. "Here I am, Rose," Jerry exclaims.

Mlle. Deauville (Mrs. Spears) may be a movie vamp, but she appreciates "elegant talking and swell manners" as displayed by Percy (Perry McCammon.)

Squint (Ernest Christian) admits "Me and Props (Arthur Wareing) is dumb as oysters.'

To the Democratic Voters of Navarro County

This is the last communication which can reach you through the Press of our County before the election. The Navarro County Democratic Campaign Committee is very anxious to see Navarro County roll up a handsome majority for the ticket. The problem which confronts us is not that of converting voters to the support of the ticket, but to arouse our voters that they will take the trouble to go to the polls and vote. For many years the General Election in November has been an indifferent matter and this indifference is the thing which we must overcome.

We desire to personally appeal to our fellow Democrats, both men and women, to stand by the ticket. All those who are bolting claim to be Democrats and claim to love the Party and favor its principles, and yet by their bolting they are endeavoring to defeat and destroy the Party. To all these we make an appeal to their honor and integrity and loyalty to the party and urge upon them the claim that if they defeat the party now, it will take years and years to overcome the setback which this defeat will mean.

We, therefore, appeal to your honor, integrity and party loyalty, and your promise, both expressed and implied, that you would support the Democratic ticket. We respectfully urge upon every voter who properly belongs to the Democratic Party that he at this time will brush aside the prejudice and feeling which has prompted him to want to bolt the party, and to cast his vote in support of the regular ticket. Party regularity requires this; the principle of majority rule requires this; the principles of honesty and honor and fair dealings require this; every honorable and worthy consideration requires that Democrats support the ticket. If in your pique, you bolt now, you will regret it hereafter. Don't do it!

Our Democratic platform is a better platform than that of the Republican party. Our candidates are better public servants than are the candidates of the Republican party. No one in the whole country has brought one charge against Joe T. Robinson detrimental to his character and worth. The whole fight in this campaign against the Democratic party is based upon the Prohibition views of Governor Alfred E. Smith, but he is a man who has been tried and found true to every promise and to every oath of office he has ever taken. He tells the people of the country that if he is elected President he will enforce the Prohibition Laws. The Republican party after eight years of trial, has signally failed to enforce these laws, and they who are opposing Governor Smith because of his view on Prohibition do so with the knowledge that he will enforce the laws if he is elected and with the further knowledge that the Republican party has not, and will not enforce these laws if they are returned to power. DO NOT STAB YOUR PARTY IN THE BACK.

We, therefore, issue this last appeal to our fellow Democrats, urging upon them that they remain loyal to the Party which has been the champion and protector of our Southland. Let every man and woman who loves the Democratic party go to the polls and vote the ticket straight and see to it that his neighbors do likewise. In doing this you will be standing with our Senator-elect, Tom Connally, our Congressman-elect, Luther A. Johnson, every nominee of the Democratic party in the State of Texas for Congress, the nominee of the Democratic party for Governor, Honorable Dan Moody, and for Lieutenant-Governor, Honorable Barry Miller and every nominee of the Democratic party in Navarro county for district and county offices.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

TEXTBOOK CONTRACT AWARDED TUESDAY BY BOARD AT AUSTIN

AUSTIN, Oct. 30.—(P)—Forty-four textbooks for 33 public school courses were adopted here today by the state textbook commission for contracts, ranging from 3 to 6 years duration, to cost close to $2,000,000 ultimately.

The American Book company, holder of the expiring geography text contract, involved for a year in litigation brought by the state on claims of excessive prices, failed to get a contract this time, either on its geographies or readers.

The commission rejected all bids on English and American literature, finding an insufficient number of suitable texts as satisfactory prices.

Twenty-one supplementary reading texts were adopted, ranging in price from 36 1-2 to 75 cents.

The coveted geography contract went to MacMillan company, 90 cents, complete elementary geography, and Rand-McNally company, $1.15, complete advanced geography with Texas supplement. The state has been paying $1.19 and $1.68 for geography texts.

There is no definite estimate as to what the books will cost. They are ordered under contract only as the schools need them. In several of the courses, multiple lists are adopted. This gives the accredited high schools their choice between two or three texts for some given course.

The arithmetic contract, one of the most important made, goes to the Benjamin H. Sanborn company on Stone's five book series, ranging from 30 to 36 cents a book, for five years.

Other important contracts are for history texts. The Basal text adopted for six years is Fit's history of the United States, Henry Holt and company, $1.47.

A school history of Texas by Barker, Potts and Ramsdell, was adopted for four years on row, Peterson and company's price of 63 cents.

Barry Woman to Visit On Pacific Coast

Mrs. J. J. Varnell of Barry left Sunday for Seattle, Wash., to visit her son, W. F. Varnell. She will also visit her daughter, Mrs. P. F. Walton, in California before returning. She was accompanied to Chicago by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Garrett of Waco. Mrs. Garrett was formerly Glynn Varnell. Mr. Garrett, who is with Mailander company of Waco, will visit several fixture factories in Grand Rapids and other northern cities.

Site for New Marine Hospital Galveston Has Been Selected

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(P)—A site for the projected new marine hospital at Galveston, has been selected and purchased by the treasury department, subject to title examination. The cost of the land will be $50,000. The property, owned by Emil Eggers, is located between avenue M andN and 43rd streets.

An appropriation of $740,000 is available for the construction and site. The supervising architect of the treasury intends to get out plans and specifications for immediate construction.

TEMPERATURE DROP AND GOOD RAIN IS VISITED ON COUNTY

A drop of twenty or more degrees in temperature late Monday afternoon and Monday night brought overcoats out of the moth balls and the gas heaters out of storage. At 3 o'clock Monday afternoon the thermometer at the Sun office stood at 65 degrees and at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning it registered 43, a drop of 22 degrees.

A steady rain fell practically all night amounting to 1.15 inches in Corsicana, according to the government gauge. Reports from all sections of the country indicate that the rainfall was general and about the same as in Corsicana.

The rain Monday night was the biggest that has fallen in Navarro county in several months. Very little damage will be done to cotton as it is practically all out. It will help put land in condition for fall plowing and for planting grain.

Roads in all sections of the country were reported heavy and passage was difficult.

Airport Committee Will Continue Its Site Inspections

Members of the sub-committee on location of the Corsicana airport project braved muddy roads Wednesday afternoon to inspect three sites north of the city, and as soon as the roads permit an inspection tour will be made of several sites south of the city.

In the meanwhile all available information concerning the proposed sites is being obtained, and will be ready for a full meeting of the Aviation committee within the near future.

DALLAS YOUTH IS CAUGHT AFTER HAD ROBBED 22 HOMES

DALLAS, Oct. 30.—(P)—Having robbed 22 homes within a few blocks of his own residence, a Dallas high school graduate, 16, has been halted in his career as a burglar.

Needing money to spend in college, although his father intended to pay the youth's expenses, the lad said he turned to robbery. After he had looted 22 homes, taking only money, he was captured.

A diary he had kept showed exact dates and times of the robberies as well as the amount of money he got. One entry said: "Got shot at but no valuables."

All persons whose homes the youth had robbed refused to prosecute.

Former Corsicana Girl, Actress, is Wed in New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(Spl.)—Miss Thelma I. Lee, 22, an actress of 320 West 17th street., this city, the daughter of John H. and Carrie Lee of Corsicana, Texas, where she was born, and Francis B. McCabe, 25, an actor, of the same address, obtained a license to wed here Monday. The couple announced they would be married at St. Malachy's church, this city, by the Rev. Father Leonard. Mr. McCabe was born in this city, the son of Patrick J. and Mary Blake McCabe.

The next meeting will be held at Ennis, Dec. 8.

Among those present were J. M. Reynolds and E. E. Reynolds, both of Ennis; C. P. Vickery, Hubbard; J. A. Hendricks, Heidenheimer Academy; C. B. Spencer, Hillsboro; M. D. Lewis, Italy; D. B. Pitts, State Home of Corsicana; Jack Williams, Itasca; Henry Ross, Kerens; J. I. Kincaid, Mart.

AGED GRANDMOTHER OF CORSICANA WOMAN DIED IN TENNESSEE

Mrs. R. B. Mitchell received the sad message Monday that her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Mary Raulston-Taylor, had passed away at her home in Richard City, Tenn. Mrs. Taylor was in her seventy-fourth year. She came of an old, distinguished family in that part of the state and was a first cousin of Judge John T. Raulston, the presiding judge in the noted Scopes evolution case in Dayton, Tenn. and late Republican candidate for the nomination for the governorship of Tennessee in the recent primaries.

Mrs. Taylor's husband, the late David Gaines Taylor, passed away on the sixth of last July.

LIGHT CRUDE OIL OUTPUT DECREASES IN VARIOUS FIELDS

TULSA, Oct. 30.—(P)—The downward trend in the daily average production in light gravity oils in virtually all fields of the United States during the past month continued during the week ending Oct. 27, with a 5980 barrell decrease in Oklahoma fields; 1798 barrels in the West Texas fields and 5581 barrels in the mid-continent areas, according to the Oil and Gas Journal.

Although a total increase of 4742 barrels was recorded during the wek the deficit was made up by an unusual increase in heavy gravity oil production throughout the country. Heavy gravity oil showed an increase of 7621 barrels during the week.

The grand total daily average production for the United States during the week was 2,513,378 as compared to 2,508,636 during the week ending Oct. 20.

Rangers on Guard At Trial of Negro

GREENVILLE, Oct. 30.—(P)—With two Texas Rangers on guard as an admitted precautionary step, three purors had been selected here at noon today for the trial of Willie Grady, 20, negro, charged with criminal assault on a white woman.

All witnesses were searched before they were allowed to enter the courtroom, and all spectators were barred.

SMITH DENOUNCES ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE AND KU KLUX KLAN

SAYS REPUBLICAN PARTY IS WORKING HAND IN HAND WITH INTOLERANCE

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Home again after a flying campaign visit to Maryland, Gov. Smith was on record today with the blunt charge that the Anti-Saloon League and the Ku Klux Klan were forces working hand in hand with the Republican party to bring about his defeat.

Addressing one of the most demonstrative and colorful audiences of his presidential drive in the Fifth Regiment Armory in Baltimore last night, the Democratic presidential nominee vigorously assailed the League and the Klan and contended that Republican leaders, including Herbert Hoover, were "wiggling and wobbling" on the question of prohibition because their party was "held right down to earth by the power and the influences of the forces of intolerance."

Stands for Old Order.

Speaking in the same building where Woodrow Wilson was nominated 16 years ago, and with the war president's widow on the platform, the governor devoted a large part of his speech to the argument that the Republican party stood for "the old order of things," and stand-patism as opposed to the Democratic stand for "progressive" treatment of the big questions facing the country. Foreign policy, waterpower, the tariff, government reorganization—all were dealt with in detail before prohibition and intolerance were reached.

The Anti-Saloon League, the nominee charged, had flooded the country with propaganda "in an effort to make God-fearing men and women believe that the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act are dogmas of religion."

"No church that I ever heard of, no church that you ever heard of," the governor asserted amid loud applause, "attempted to make the Eighteenth Amendment or the Volstead Act an act of faith."

"What is it?" he continued, "It is nothing more or less than legislation passed in the stress of war and lobbied through the congress by the brow-beating methods oof the Anti-Saloon League."

Value of Temperance.

The governor contended that every religion taught the value of sobriety and temperance, as well as the danger of intolerance, and declared he could not escape the thought that it must be "quite a shock to the American people to have the moral power of the church used to impress men and women with the idea that in talking against the Eighteenth Amendment or Volstead Act they are against every church, or that they have sinned against God Himself."

Senator Norris, Republican Independent of Nebraska, who, in a speech Saturday night announced his support of Gov. Smith, was said by the nominee to have received a "cold-blooded threat" from the Anti-Saloon League, declaring it would withdraw its support of the Nebraskan if he made that speech.

"That means," the governor said amid cheers, "that all of Senator Norris' great work in the senate, all the efforts that he put into the advancement of progressive legislation, all that he did for men, women and children throughout the country falls to the ground and crumbles into dust in the eyes of the Anti-Saloon League just as soon as he runs counter to their ideas and just as soon as he gets out of line and out of tune with their bigotry and intolerance."

Klan is Scored.

Referring to "that gallant band of patriots known as the Ku Klux Klan," the governor said: "I never hear the words without having the thought flashed across my mind, what must the American people think after the countless billions of dollars they have poured into the cost of public education, to see reared up in a country like ours an organization calling itself 100 per cent American without the slightest notion of American ideals or American principles."

A roar of applause swept the flag-waving, paper-throwing thousands that jammed into the armory as the governor said there is abundant evidence that the Klan is receiving "a good deal of encouragement from some Republican leaders."

The nominee borught applause when he said he would "sooner go down in ignominious defeat than to be elected to any office in this country, if to accomplish it I had to have the support of any group with such perverted ideas of Americanism."

The governor was given as ovation that lasted approximately 20 minutes when he entered the armory and frequently during the course of his addrss he was forced to quiet noise-makers.

PET SQUIRREL BIT FIVE PEOPLE; FOUND HAVE HAD RABBIES

FORT WORTH, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Five Fort Worth residents will begin undergoing treatment for rabies today for bites received from a pet squirrel which went on a rampage Saturday. An analysis showed the animal was afflicted with rabies.

The squirrel had been a pet for three years of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Agee. Saturday it gnawed out of its cage, bit Mrs. Howard Tresson, and got inside her clothes. Mrs. Agee heard screams of her neighbor and was bitten when she reached for the pet.

Running through a fence, the animal attacked Mrs. J. W. Lusk and then leaped another fence to bury its teeth in the arms of D. B. Powell.

Louis Tallet, elderly man who recognized the squirrel as Mrs. Agee's pet sought to capture it. The squirrel jumped on his chest and began tearing off his shirt and undershirt.

Tallet choked the animal to death.

BOILER EXPLOSION TAKES FIVE LIVES MISSISSIPPI TOWN

SAW MILL DESTROYED AND OTHER BUILDINGS DAMAGED IN SUDDEN BLAST

ETHEL, Miss., Oct. 30. (AP)—Five men were killed and a heavy steam boiler was hurled 200 yards into a store building here today when the boiler exploded at the McDaniel planing mill.

Apparently out of water, the steam box on the mill's engine cracked open with a mighty roar, destroyed the building in which it was located and sailed through space into Askin's store across the road, demolishing that structure and damaging the postoffice next door with small bits of steel and wood.

L. O. Lord and a machinist named Peten, aged about 45, were killed instantly. Both were in the boiler room. Three others died later. They were Peten's 19-year-old son, employed elsewhere in the mill, but visiting his father near the boiler at the time of the tragedy; Wilbourne Raspberry, fireman, and Ed Carr, a negro helper.

Everything in the vicinity of the boiler house was demolished or damaged.

Burnett-Waggoner Properties Will Be Divided in Courts

FORT WORTH, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The daughter of one of the state's outstanding oilmen faced the son of one of the pioneer cattlemen of Texas in court here today in a suit to determine property rights of the two in an $100,000,000 estate.

Miss Ann Burnett, daughter of the man who discovered and developed the Burkburnett field, is seeking a one-sixth interest in the properties, which she and her former husband, Guy T. Waggoner, son of W. T. Waggoner, Fort Worth cattleman, must divide as a result of their divorce. At the time of the divorce it was agreed that the property division should be decided in a separate suit.

Burnett was a well known cattleman in Texas before development of the Burkburnett field on his ranch and the Waggoner ranch also developed considerable oil production.

GEN. WM. MITCHELL OPPOSES ELECTION OF REPUBLICANS

COMES OUT FLATLY FOR ALFRED E. SMITH IN CHICAGO THURSDAY

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—(AP)—General William Mitchell, suspended chief of the army air service, criticized prohibition, the republican party and Herbert Hoover in a speech prepared for delivery here today, and urged the election of Gov. Alfred E. Smith as president.

The republican party, he said, "has become the symbol for conservatism, monopoly, selfishness and dishonesty in government."

Governor Smith believes in "a liberal policy of common sense, honesty and law enforcement," General Mitchell said.

"This desire to amend the prohibition law is sponsored by responsible thinking people, who see in prohibition as it exists simply a monstrous and defective system that defeats its own object," he continued. "The Eighteenth Amendment," he declared, "has been a dismal failure."

"The republican party is the prohibition party. Most of its members drink, but because they think they can get more votes they adopt the hypocritical attitude of favoring the continuance of this terrible condition into which a few zealots plunged us."

half of Texas during September, but dry weather in the northwest northeast and northern portion of Central-West Texas reduced the prospective yield of some crops.

Heavy precipitation in some sections of Texas retarded picking and caused some loss of cotton, but most of the cotton growing region has been favored with ideal weather and picking and ginning has made rapid progress during the past six weeks, the Federal Reserve Bank resume points out.

Cotton Ginnings Increase.

According to the bureau of census there had been ginned in the state prior to Oct. 1, 2,429,000 bales as compared to 2,300,530 bales before that date last year. Ginnings to Oct. 1 represent nearly one-half of the estimated production for the current year. The department of agriculture estimated the condition of the Texas crop at 58 per cent normal Oct. 1, which, according to the department, indicated a yield of 5,050,000 of 500-pound gross weight bales, or an average output of 137 pounds of lint per acre. This compares to an estimated yield of 5,100,000 bales on September 1 and an actual production of 4,352,000 bales in 1927.

Insects have been active in most sections of Texas, Louisiana and Southeastern Oklahoma during September, the report discloses, and in many areas have materially reduced the yield, particularly of the late planted acreage.

West Texas in Good Shape.

Range conditions have deteriorated somewhat in Northeast, Northwest and West-Central Texas and Eastern New Mexico due to lack of moisture, but have improved elsewhere. In West Texas the situation is especially favorable, reports indicating that they are the best in recent years. Likewise, heavy rains in the south and coast sections of Texas broke a dry spell and conditions are much improved.

"The demand for cattle continues strong with trading active where surplus cattle are available, but the surplus cattle in most sections are becoming rare," the summary states.

There was no change in the average condition of cattle during the month but sheep and goats and their ranges reflected a marked improvement in September.

Oil Output Gains.

Following a decline in August, total production of crude oil in the district amounted to 22,504,100 barrels. This exceeded the previous months' output by 368,650. Although there was a general downward trend in the majority of fields, total production of the North Texas area showed sufficient gain to result in an increase for the district.

Total production of oil in North Louisiana amounted to 1,170,950 barrels and reflected a further decline which, in September, amounted to 74,750 barrels.

Reports from 42 pine mills showed a decline in activities after an increase in July and August. Operations, however, continued on a larger scale than the same month of 1927.

DISPUTE OVER $3 BILL MAY RESULT IN DEATH FOR ONE

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Oscar W. Vaughan, 35, farmer, is in a critical condition at a hospital here with a bullet wound in his abdomen as a result of an argument in a cafe over a disputed $3 automobile repair bill.

Vaughan entered the restaurant with the owner of an auto wrecking yard. An employe of the restaurant owed the wrecking yard owner $3, the latter claimed. When the cafe employe was asked to pay the bill he threw an egg at the garage owner, witnesses said, and grabbed a pistol. He grappled with Vaughan and the other man, and in the scuffle the pistol was discharged.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR VOTERS IN ELECTION OF NEXT TUESDAY

The following instructions to voters were issued Thursday morning from the headquarters of the Navarro County Democratic committee:

Carry your poll tax receipts—county and city—to the polls with you. This will save you and the election officers a lot of trouble.

In Corsicana, no person can vote except his name appears on the popll tax list.

Every voter must mark out all tickets and names on the ballot except the one he wants to vote for.

Democrats should take no chance on losing their ballot or trying to vote a mixed ticket.

The Democratic ticket appears on the left-hand side of the ballot. All Democrats should leave this ticket untouched but should draw lines completely through every other ticket.

Pennsylvania Road To Electrify Line For Good Distance

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Pennsylvania railroad is to electrify its entire freight and passenger service between New York and Wilmington, Del., at a cost of $100,000,000.

The decision was announced by General W. W. Atterbury, president of the road.

The project will cover 325 miles of line comprising 1,800 miles of track and will require seven or eight years to complete.

General Atterbury said that if conditions warrant it the electrification of the roads entire 11,000 miles of trackage would follow section upon completion of the present plans.

THOUSANDS LOCKED OUT.

ESSEN, Germany, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Iron and steel workers throughout the Rhineland and Westphalia, estimated to number 225,000, today found themselves out of jobs because Industralists declared a lockout as an answer to a wage increase award by the ministry of labor.

SUPREME COURT OF TEXAS REVERSED ITS FORMER FINDINGS

DAMAGE CASE REHEARING BRINGS DIFFERENT VERDICT BY COURT

AUSTIN, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The supreme court today recalled a former decision affirming a trial court judgment for damages in the Beaumont "attractive nuisance" case, reversed the case and sent it back for new trial.

The case is unusual because the supreme court rarely grants motions for rehearings, as was done in this instance, and because of the nature of the pleadings in the suit.

District awarded Robert Duron, young boy, $3,000 and his mother $2,000 damages for loss of fingers on one hand in the machinery of the Beaumont Works' hoisting derrick, which Robert and a young brother approached to examine. Plaintiff counsel contended that the derrick was "irresistably attractive to children of tender years," being painted a "beautiful salmon color," and that the iron works was negligent in not protecting the machinery from the pryings of children. The "attractive nuisance" doctrine of law was invoked.

The jury took the same view but the court of civil appeals did not. Yet when the case went to the supreme court, the commission of appeals upheld the trial court.

On motion for rehearing, counsel for the iron works alleged that the boys had passed the derrick many times without stopping and that testimony about the accident showed they only stopped to see how it worked.

POLITICS CLAIM VICTIM.

SHARPSBURG, N. C., Nov. 1.—(AP)—An argument over politics is held to have caused the shooting and fatal injury of Blaine Farmer, a policeman, last night, by his brother-in-law, T. W. Fitts, former mayor of Sharpsburg. The shooting, which occurred in front of the postoffice, was witnessed by a number of bystanders.

Head of Athiests Released After His Fine Forthcoming

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Charles Smith, who started a hunger strike seventeen days ago in jail here as a protest against his conviction of anti-Atheist laws, was discharged today as a city hospital patient, but remained in the hospital at his own expense. He told Dr. C. M. Brooks, hospital superintendent, that he probably would start eating tonight.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Indignant because a person whose identity was not disclosed had paid the remainder of his fine, Charles Smith, hunger-striking New York Atheist leader today was prepared to resist release from the hospital "unless ejected."

Smith, convicted in police court and fined $25 for displaying alleged illegal literature, refused to pay his fine and shortly after confinement in the city jail began a hunger strike. He was removed to a hospital because of his weakened condition.

The fine was paid yesterday, according to Circuit Judge Abner McGehee, and eliminated the necessity for a habeas corpus hearing on a petition filed in Smith's behalf.

Physicians announced that Smith would be released today if his temperature is nomal.

NAVARRO COUNTY GETS ANOTHER RAIN LARGE PROPORTIONS

During the twenty-four-hour period ending at 7 o'clock Thursday morning 1.26 inches of rain fell in Corsicana, according to the government guage. A total of 2.41 inches has fallen this week.

Reports from Rice, Emhouse, Blooming Grove, Barry, Frost, Purdon, Dawson, Richland, Powell, Mildred, Kerens, Chatfield, Roane and other communities indicate that about the same amount fell in all sections of the county.

Cotton picking has been stopped this week, the first delay of any length in picking this fall. Since a large per cent of the cotton has been picked, although there are several thousand bales in the fields in the county, no great damage from the rain is expected.

The rain fell slowly and practically all of the water was taken up the ground which was unusually dry. Farmers, where they have completed picking cotton, can start immediately to preparing for another crop. A fine season for planting fall grain will result from the rains and the land will also be in good condition for breaking.

Roads throughout the county were practically impassible Thursday morning.

Separate Hearings Being Conducted in Rail Rate Matters

DALLAS, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Two separate hearings were conducted by Interstate Commerce commission examiners and members of the Tex Railroad commission here today in an effort to complete the session this week.

Examiner John T. Money and state rail commissioner, Lon A. Smith presided over the cottonseed rate session, while Examiner George Esch and Chairman Clarence E. Gilmore of the state commission presided over the cement rates. The latter hearing is on cement rates from Kansas and Oklahoma to points in Texas differential territory. E. W. Martindell of the Oklahoma Portland Cement company and B. L. Glover of the Kansas Gas Belt testified today in complaint of existing cement rates.

VICTIM OF AFFRAY SATURDAY DIED IN HOSPITAL THURSDAY

Marlin B. Burns, aged 27 years, died in the Navarro county hospital Thursday morning at 5 o'clock, and the body was forwarded to Blooming Grove on the Cotton Belt motor Thursday morning, where funeral services and interment will be made some time Friday. A formal complaint for murder was filed against Elmer Cowart, aged 18, who has been at liberty on a charge of aggravated assault since an altercation which occurred on North Beaton street shortly after noon last Saturday, when the two men became engaged in a difficulty and Burns received two severe knife wounds in the back. The fathers of the two boys, T. J. Burns and J. E. Cowart, it was stated, were engaged in a fisticuff, and the two younger men became engaged in the difficulty.

The two elder men and young Cowart reside in the Shady Grove community and young Burns resided in the Ward Bridge community.

After the cutting scrape, the injured man was given first aid and then taken to the county hospital, where an operation was performed. Soon after the trouble, Elmer Cowart surrendered to city officers and later was turned over to the county officers.

Thursday morning Elmer Cowart telephoned the sheriff's office after Burns' death and said that he would meet an officer at the Pursley concrete slab Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock and surrender, it was announced at the sheriff's office.

No intimation whether an examining trial will be held or whether the examining trial will be waived to await the action of the grand jury Thursday noon.

Burns is survived by his wife, parents, and other relatives.

Dallas Girl Must Pay For Husband of Houston Matron

HOUSTON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Judgment of $10,000 was awarded Mrs. Lily Tarkington, 40, of Houston, in an alienation of affections suit against Miss Norma L. Hopkins, 25, of Dallas, here yesterday.

Mrs. Tarkington, mother of two children, sued for $50,000, accusing Miss Hopkins of being responsible for her estrangement with her husband.

On the witness stand Miss Hopkins admitted friendship for Mr. Tarkington, but stated their relations had been along "platonic lines."

Frost Voters Are Reported Favoring State Amendments

W. V. Harrison, superintendent of the Frost schools, says that the voters of the Frost community are manifesting a lively interest in the proposed educational amendment to be voted on at the coming general election.

One of these amendments would give the state legislature the power to substitute a regular board of education for the present ex-officio state board of education. The other amondment would authorize the legislature to extend the terms of school officials not to exceed six years.

Mr. Harrison reports that the organized clubs and the board of school trustees of the Frost community have endorsed the proposed amendments, and that a large number of prominent citizens have signed an appeal to the voters to support the measures.

Superintendent Harrison is of opinion that the proposed amendments if adopted will mean more to the public school system of the state than any measures proposed for the last quarter of a century. He believes the amendments will carry overwhelmingly if every school executive in the state will present them in the proper light before the voters of his community.

TEXAS IS SAFELY IN DEMOCRATIC COLUMN ESTIMATES INDICATE

NEWSPAPER ESTIMATES THROUGHOUT STATE GIVE SMITH SAFE MAJORITY

(Editor's note—The Dallas Evening Journal has been collecting estimate from Texas newspapers in an effort to arrive at the political trend of the state in the national election. The following is the third compilation of the results as it appears in the Journal Thursday.)

The third compilation of estimates made by Texas newspaper men of the political trend in Texas as between the two leading candidates for president give the following totals:

Alfred E. Smith	338,988
Herbert Hoover	251,286
Smith lead	87,702

Those total figures represent estimates from 137 counties, which have an aggregate qualified vote of approximately 862,065. There are still unreported 117 counties, but those included in this estimate represent more than two-thirds of the vote in the state.

The most populous county from which no report has been received is McLellan, of which Waco is the county seat. Cooke, Eastland, Harrison, Johnson, Lubbock, Potter and Stephens are the only counties out in which there are large towns.

The total vote listed for the two candidates in the counties included in the estimate is approximately 600,000. The combined vote counted for Smith and Hoover is 590,274, but neither of them is given a vote from Hunt or Live Oak counties, where the estimates were confined to percentages and made no prediction as to figures.

Estimates indicate that about 70 per cent of the qualified vote will be cast. If the estimates are correct and the proportion is borne out in the other counties the Smith vote will be 57.4 per cent of that cast and the Hoover vote 42.6 per cent.

This week's summary includes figures from thirty-three additional counties which gave Smith 84,952 and Hoover 53,933.

Of the thirty-three additional counties reporting this week twenty-nine are for Smith and four for Hoover. This makes a total of 103 for Smith, 30 for Hoover and 4 ties.

In this week's summary are included reports from Anderson, Archer, Bastrop, Bowie, Cameron, Cherokee, Clay, Falls, Fayette, Franklin, Gonzales, Hopkins, Hunt, Jefferson, Kaufman, Lamar, Lampasas, Limestone, Live Oak, Llano, Matagorda, Mitchell, Navarro, Palo Alto, Smith, Terrell, Titus, Tom Greene, Travis, Upshur, Washington, Wheeler and Zapata.

All of these were listed for Smith except Live Oak, Mitchell, Smith and Terrell.

The following counties are listed as being in the Smith column: Anderson, Angelina, Archer, Bastrop, Baylor, Bell, Bexar, Bosque, Bowie, Brazos, Burleson, Caldwell, Cameron, Camp, Carson, Cherokee, Clay, Cochran, Coke, Collin, Collingsworth, Colorado, Comal, Culberson, Dallam, Denton, DeWitt, Dickens, Dimmitt, Erath, Falls, Fannin, Fayette, Fort Bend, Franklin, Freestone, Galveston, Gonzales, Grayson, Grimes, Hansford, Harris, Henderson, Hill, Hopkins, Houston, Hudspeth, Hunt, Jack, Jasper, Jefferson, Jim Hogg, Jim Wells, Kaufman, Lamar, Lampasas, Leon, Limestone, Llano, Marion, Matagorda, McCulloch, Milam, Mills, Montgomery, Moore, Morris, Nacogdoches, Navarro, Newton, Nueces, Orange, Palo Pinto, Parker, Rains, Robertson, Rockwall, Rusk, Sabine, San Saba, San Jacinto, Schleicher, Shelby, Starr, Terry, Titus, Tom Green, Travis, Upshur, Uvalde, Val Verde, Van Zandt, Victoria, Waller, Washington, Wilson, Wise, Yoakum and Zapata—103.

The following counties are listed as being in the Hoover column: Armstrong, Bandera, Cottle, Dallas, Donley, Ellis, El Paso, Goliad, Gray, Hall, Hays, Hockley, Kent, Kerr, Kimble, Live Oak, Lynn, Mason, Mitchell, Polk, Real, Smith, Swisher, Cutton, Tarrant, Taylor, Terrell Wichita, Willacy and Wood—30.

HOOVER CLAIMS VICTORY IN SIGHT AS HE SETS OUT FOR CALIFORNIA HOME TO VOTE

BY JAMES L. WEST.
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover sets out today for California to await in the quiet of his home on Stanford University campus the decision of the people of the United States as to whether they will crown his career with the presidency.

High in the hope of victory, the nominee in his last public utterance in Washington, delivered to newspapermen who have been with him throughout the campaign, said republican success was assured "if those who believe with us go to the polls."

As Hoover leaves here at 5 p. m., on the three thousand mile campaign swing across the continent, he will carry with him the best wishes of President Coolidge, members of the cabinet and a host of Washington friends in and out of public life.

Before leaving for the last time the spacious office from which for two months and more he has directed the vast army carrying the message of republicanism to the people, the presidential candidate had arranged to call on President Coolidge at the white house and to say good-bye to those who have labored in republican national headquarters nearby.

One of the last pronouncements to come from Hoover's own headquarters was that making public a letter from Secretary Mellon attesting that the nominee has made tax returns as an American citizen and paid taxes on those returns since the enactment of the income tax law in 1913.

This letter from the secretary of the treasury, which was addressed to James Francis Burke, general counsel for the national committee, was intended to set at rest reports assailing the American citizenship of the man who carries the hopes of the republican party in a campaign that for intensity has been without parallel in recent political history.

Before he comes to the end of the trail in this, his greatest adventure in a long career marked by adventures in many climes, Hoover has some hard days and nights of campaigning ahead of him as he has determined that there shall be no let up in the fight until the very eve of the day the voters will register their will.

Beginning early tonight at Cumberland, he will compress four speeches into half as many days and nights and soon after his arrival at his California home he will give his last message as a candidate to the nation, speaking for fifteen minutes into a microphone in his study with his voice carried to every corner of the land over a nation-wide chain of stations.

The principal address of the swing, and the one to the preparation of which Hoover has given many long hours, will be delivered at St. Louis tomorrow night. It will deal chiefly with farm relief and inland waterways development and the nominee's friends believe that it will do much to strengthen the party cause in the agricultural west.

FIRE NEAR DALLAS BELIEVED FATAL TO MAN AND TWO BOYS

DALLAS, Nov. 1. —(AP)— Frank Vigo, 25, cook, was burned to death, and two negro pantry boys were burned, probably fatally, in a fire which wrecked the Cedar Palace, formerly known as the Ozarks a dancing resort south of Dallas, early today.

The two boys, their clothing burned off, stumbled and crawled nearly two miles to a farm house for aid. They were awakened by the falling roof, and finding escape cut off, plunged through a blazing room and broke a door down to get out.

Vigo, it was believed was trapped on the sleeping porch on the second floor.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY KEYES, LOS ANGELES, REMOVAL ASKED

and Berman in federal court here Tuesday of using the mails to defraud in the petroleum stock mix-up.

Mr. Keyes recently announced that he would retire from office December 5, allowing his successor, Burton Fitts, who was elected last September, to take office then. Fitts gave up the lieutenant governorship of California to run for district attorney in Los Angeles county on an anti-vice platform.

Keyes made the following statement last night concerning the charges: "I really don't know what this is about. I never wascalled before the grand jury nor was there apparently any effort made toget anything but the statements of some outside parties. I understand that the names ofsome of the witnesses appearing before the grand jury on which the indictments and accusations are based, are people who tried to blackmail a man out of the money on the theory that they could do just what was done.

"It is also significant that the chief party instrumental in producing these matters is a discharged employe.

"I expect to investigate and find out what this is all about, and make a complete statement."

MANY SEATS IN HOUSE WILL BE FILLED AT ELECTION ON TUESDAY, NOVEMBER SIXTH

By W. B. RAGSDA[illegible]
Member Associated Press House Staff.

WASHINGTON, Oct. [illegible]—(AP)— An even 400 of the [illegible] members who were on the [illegible] of the house of represent[illegible] at the last session of congr[illegible] ght this year to retain their [illegible] for another term. Three [illegible] ed and ninety-two of them [illegible] ded the primaries and, with the exception of four already elected in Maine, will submit their cause to the voters November 6.

Besides the eight wh[illegible] failed of renomination, 35 passe[illegible] for other reasons, four havi[illegible] resigned and 26 having decide[illegible] to run again. Death claime[illegible] three just before the sessio[illegible] ed and two during the recess.

Six of those who e[illegible] o quit the house sought n[illegible] ion to the senate, and thre[illegible] ers became candidates as [illegible] party choice for governor of [illegible] states. Three — Tom Connal[illegible] Texas, Theodore E. Burton [illegible] and Charles E. Winter of Wyoming— were successful in their quest for Senatorial nominations, but only one, Martin L. Davey of Ohio won a place on the gubernatorial ticket.

In addtion to Connally, Burton, Winter and Davey, among the outstanding figures who will be missing from the house chamber when the seventy-first congress convenes are Finis J. Garrett of Tennessee, the democratic floor leader; James T. Begg of Ohio, Ira G. Hersey of Maine, Thomas L. Blanton of Texas, the scrappiest member of the house, and George H. Combs Jr., the baby member from Kansas City. . . .

Garrett, who probably will be succeeded as democratic leader by John Garner of Texas and who has served in the house for 21 years, failed to realize his ambition to become a senator. He was defeated in the Tennessee primaries by Senator Kenneth McKellar.

Blanton, too, was unsuccessf[illegible] in his fight for a senatorial nom[illegible]a-tion, both he and Senator Ear[illegible] B. Mayfield going down before the genial Tom Connally in one of the hottest scraps for a senatorship the Lone Star state has known in many years. Another democrat [illegible] sought to unhorse a senator, T. Webber Wilson, was defeated in the Mississippi primaries by [illegible] bert D. Stephens.

Where Davey was successful in obtaining the democratic gubernatorial nomination in Ohio, "Ji[illegible] Begg, one of the rising leaders in the house republican ranks, failed to receive the republican nomination, which would have brought him into a contest with his home colleague in November. A second member of the house who failed to obtain a republican gubernatorial nomination was Joseph D. Beck of Wisconsin, one of the LaFollette group of independents, who was defeated by Walter J. Kohler.

Combs, the youngest member of the house, who now is serving his first term, did not offer for reelection, choosing to resume the practice of law in his home city, but Horsey, a Maine veteran of six sessions, went down to defeat before Donald F. Snow, who was elected in the Pine Tree state last month.

Since the gavel fell last May death has removed two prominent members of the house, Henry R. Rathbone of Illinois and Louis A. Frothingham of Massachusetts. Just before the session ended three other veterans answered the last roll call—Thomas Butler of Pennsylvania, chairman of the naval committee; Martin B. Madden of Illinois, chairman of the appropriations committee, and James A. Gallivan of Massachusetts, who was a leader of the wet forces

All four of the women now members of the house—Florence P. Kahn of California, Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts, Mary T. Norton of New Jersey and Katherine Langley of Kentucky—are candidates for re-election. In addition two other women, both daughters of once outstanding figures in the republican and the democratic parties, seek house seats.

Ruth Hanna McCormick, daughter of Mark Hanna, is a candidate for representative at large from Illinois, having defeated Representative Richard Yates in the republican primaries. Yates, however, has since been appointed as a candidate in place of Rathbone.

Ruth Bryan Owen, daughter of William Jennings Bryan, seeks election to the house from the fourth district of Florida. She defeated Rep. William J. Sears in the primaries last spring, and generally nomination in that state is tantamount to election.

All of the leaders of the republican party came through the primaries. Nicholas Longworth, speaker, is up for reelection in Ohio; John Q. Tilson, floor leader, has been renominated in Connecticut, and Bertraud H. Snell, chairman of the all powerful rules committee, successfully weathered the New York primaries.

Among the democrats John Garner, ranking member of the ways and means committee, and William A. Oldfield, the democratic whip, have been renominated. Garner probably will be democratic candidate for speaker of the house and if Longworth is reelected, as he will be if the republicans retain their majority, will succeed Garrett as pilot of the minority forces.

With the present membership of the house standing at 237 republicans, 195 democrats and three scattering, the democrats in order to obtain control of the house machinery would have to make a net gain of 24 seats. This they claim they will be able to do, but that claim is vigorously disputed by the republicans, who declare they are certain to hold their present margin, with the possibility of increasing it slightly.

CANDIDATES MAKE APPEAL FOR PARTY TICKET SUPPORT

DALLAS, Nov. 1.—(AP)— State democratic headquarters here revealed last night that practically every nominee of the party in the state had signed a statement appealing to voters to support the democratic ticket "from president to constable."

Signatures to the document, described by local democratic leaders as an "iron bound" pledge, including those of six candidates for statewide office, 12 congressional nominees, 25 candidates for state senator and 69 aspirants to the state legislature.

Governor Dan Moody and Attorney General Pollard, the only statewide nominees failing to sign the pledge prepared by democratic headquarters, explained that they already had signed a statement of their own preparation.

J. D. Norwood of Retreat was in the city Wednesday.

ONE MURDER CASE REVERSED BY COURT CRIMINAL APPEALS

MOTIONS FOR REHEARING IN TWO OTHER MURDER CASES OVERRULED

AUSTIN, Oct. 31.—(AP)—One murder case was reversed and remanded, motions for a rehearing in two murder convictions were overruled, and one conviction for manslaughter was affirmed by the court of criminal appeals today.

Ramos Cantu, convicted in Live Oak county and assessed 15 years for the alleged murder of Jose Mosquedo, was given a new trial because of improper argument by the district attorney before the jury. The appellate court held that the argument was "so prejudicial" that an instruction by the court for the jury to disregard it "was unavailing." Mosquedo was cut and stabbed to death on April 3, 1927.

Tom Nichols, penalized 12 years in Limestone county in the murder of Phillip Ross, and Tom Crutchfield, assessed fifteen years in Dallas county for the murder of Lucy Crutchfield, were denied rehearing, their cases haveing been previously affirmed.

The manslaughter verdict, carrying three years imprisonment against Sam Walker, Hopkins county, was affirmed. Walker was charged with the death of Thestis Hodge, who had been struck over the head with a stick. Walker's defense was that Hodge was approaching him with an automobile crank and that he believed he was preparing to strike him. Walker and Hodge were engaged in an argument over an alleged debt, which involved "home brew" at the time of the difficulty.

Will Holland's 25-year Polk county robbery conviction was reversed and remanded on rehearing, because the indictment failed to describe a $12.35 check taken from John Long. A recent Kentucky court decision was cited in which attention was called to failure of the state to show who the check was drawn on and made payable to.

A judgment of affirmance was set aside and the case of J. M. Salinas, Hill county, was reversed and remanded for new trial, because the judge of the trial court in which Salinas got a four year liquor conviction, refused to rule out the assistant county attorney's discussion of the defendant's plea for suspended sentence.

"I want to call to your attention that rarely in a court of justice have I ever seen a man apply for a suspended sentence when he is not guilty," the attorney told the jury. This was construed by the appellate court as probably affecting the jury's decision, despite the fact that defense counsel insisted that the plea was no admission of guilt.

The one year liquor conviction of Homer Pirtle, Van Zandt county, also was reversed on rehearing because of an allusion by the county attorney to the defendant's failure to testify.

The court reversed and remanded the case in which L. O. Harris, Bexar county, was penalized five years for burglary. It was found that the trial court improperly admitted testimony by officers as to Harris' statement concerning a suit of clothes figuring in the burglary. The suit had been recovered from a pawn shop without aid of the defendant's statement and the latter therefore was inadmissible, it was held.

Liquor Case Reversed.

AUSTIN, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Because the trial court would not admit testimony that a pint of intoxicating liquor sold by the defendant was for a sick woman, the court of criminal appeals today reversed and remanded the case of Daniel Valdez, Coke county, convicted and assessed one year for selling intoxicating liquor.

Quoting the statutes, the court pointed out that it is a felony for a druggist to sell liquor unless on the prescription of a doctor, but held that the law does not say that the sale by another of intoxicating liquor for medicinal purposes is unlawful.

The party who paid Valdez $2.00 for a pint of liquor would have testified that it was purchased for medicinal purposes and that he had apprised Valdez of the fact before making the purchase, but the trial court refused to let the testimony go before the jury, it was found.

The appellate court pointed out that "on a number of occasions, this court has held that it was not unlawful to manufacture intoxicating liquor for medicinal purposes or to transport it for such purpose, or to possess it."

Sheriff Used Disguise.

AUSTIN, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Although inclined to frown on a sheriff's negro disguise, the court of criminal appeals today affirmed the three-year liquor sentence of Barry Berry, Collingsworth county.

Testimony showed that Sheriff McKinney blacked himself as a negro, furnished Will Moore, a real negro, with a $10 bill, and then nabbed on the spot Berry when the latter sold Moore some whiskey for the money. The officer's disguise was urged as a law violation and grounds for reversal of the case. It was found, however, that there was sufficient evidence for conviction, anyway.

"The sheriff, in blackening his face and fostering commission of the offense is to be commended more for his zeal than for his wisdom," the court observed. Attention was called to remarks of the court in a previous case concerning the encouragement of offenses by officers to facilitate arrests.

Youth Granted Bail.

AUSTIN, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Bail of $2,500 was granted by the court of criminal appeals today to Louis Enderli, 15-year-old Gonzales county boy, but bail was refused Emil Enderli, much older, in an appeal from district court's order holding them both in jail on charges of murdering William Whitehead, recently shot to death.

Since the law prohibits a death penalty for persons under 17 years of age, the boy's offense is automatically bailable, the appellate court held.

The appeal record showed that the elder Enderli pointed out Whitehead, and told the boy, who carried a shotgun, to "go give him a good one."

Marvin Chamblee's one-year liquor sentence was reversed and remanded to Nacogdoches county because the trial judge excluded testimony by which Chamblee hoped to prove that three and a half gallons of liquor found in bushes near his house was placed there by a disgruntled former associate, whom Chamblee had ejected from his residence.

Chamblee had the right to attempt proof that the ousted man put the liquor where officers found it, the appellate court ruled.

Jim Epps, convicted of assault to murder and given two years in San Augustine county, was granted a new trial on grounds that trial court erred in not permittring him to plead insanity, gased on a series of mishaps which he claimed caused a derangement of his mind at times.

Proceedings of Court.

AUSTIN, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Proceedings in the court of criminal appeals today include:

Affirmed—Sam Walker, Hopkins; J W. Coleman, Wilbarger; Orb Rangley, Hill; Charlie Collier, Jefferson; F. B. Simpson, Wichita; L. T. Jackson, Polk; Clarence Koch, Travis; Barry Berry, Collingsworth; E. J. Uhl, Erath, W. C. Bromley, Uvalde; Jim Tucker, Kaufman; E. G. Bright, Frio; John McGee, Calahan; G. K. Harrison, Frio.

Reversed and remanded—Marvin Chamblee, Nacogdoches; Henry Johnson, Titus; L. O. Harris, Bexas; Ed Smith; Gillespie; Jim Epps, San Augustine; Daniel Valdez, Coke; J. W. Stephenson, Ector; Ramos Canti, Live Oak.

Appellants motion for rehearing overruled—Tom Crutchfield, Dallas; Tom Nichols, Limestone; William Watson, Jefferson.

Appeal abated—Elam Orcutt, Donley.

Judgment affirmance set aside, judgment reversed and cause remanded—J. M. Salinas, Hill; Will Holland, Polk; Homer Pirtle, Van Zandt.

Appeal dismissed at request of appellant—Louis Zappa, Harris.

Judgment affirmed as to ex parte —Emil Enderli, Gonzales.

Judgment reversed and bail granted—Luis Enderli, Gonzales.

Affirm Liquor Sentence.

AUSTIN, Oct. 31. —(AP)— Orb Rangely's hasty flight in an automobile, breaking glass containers, with liquid streaming from his car for several miles and his statement to pursuing officers at the Hill county line that he would "turn in every bootlegger in Hillsboro" if the officers would "smooth things over" for him, moved the court of criminal appeals today to affirm his one year conviction for transporting liquor.

This evidence, as contained in the appeal record, was found sufficient by the appellate court to sustain conviction.

Witnesses testified that the liquid on the highway and on Rangely's car smelled like whiskey.

Why Women Democrats Should Support Alfred E. Smith

1. Because he is an American, born on American soil; reared from youth to manhood on American soil; educated in American schools; given the honor of four terms of service for the greatest American commonwealth and chosen by American people as the truest representative of the Common Man who has risen to eminence since the days of Jefferson.

2. Women of Navarro county should support Alfred E. Smith for President because he can think the thoughts of our people; speaks our speech; was born of our obscure blood; shared the trials of our obscure lives, and rose by native genius to a position of command without losing the touch of the people from whom he sprang.

3. Women Democrats will vote for Governor Smith because he is able, honest and sincere. Because his honesty of purpose is the welfare of the whole people and his record in public office, although scrutinized by his political enemies, has never been proven dishonest or untruthful.

4. He is the priceless servant of the popular will; the genius of public affairs and the leader of the Common People, wearing no brass collar, but a master of politics and statecraft, imposing the will of the people upon reluctant lawmakers and bringing to pass effective measures of Statute law to correct abuses.

5. Democratic women voters of our County who are the Mothers of boys and girls will support Governor Smith because they know that he stands against corruption in office and that Temperance, Prohibition and Law Enforcement are safe in the hands of an honest, fearless man who represents the principles of the Democratic party, the birthplace of prohibition.

6. Women of Navarro county, ponder and meditate before you cast your vote for a party that condones corruption in office and caters to the Materialistic spirit of money making above exalted manhood. Let us rally to the leadership of Governor Smith—the friend of the disorganized and helpless common people.

COTTON GINNINGS IN NAVARRO COUNTY GROWING RAPIDLY

There were 73,150 bales of the 1928 cotton crop, counting round bales as half bales, ginned in Navarro county prior to October 18, as compared with 57,398 bales at the same time last year, according to the report of R. M. Albright, government statistician, made public Wednesday.

Prior to October 1 there had been ginned in this county 51,400 bales. The report of October 18 shows a gain of 21,750 in the amount ginned. Fair weather has prevailed practically the entire time since the October 18th report which has enabled the farmers to gather their cotton rapidly and taking into consideration that in some places cotton is practically out it would be almost impossible to maintain the ratio between the two reports indications are that well over 80,000 bales have already been ginned in this county.

DEMOCRATS AFTER FULL VOTE TO MAKE MAJORITY 200,000

DALLAS, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The state Democratic executive committee will concentrate from now until election day on "getting out the vote," W. A. Thomas, manager, said today.

"We have never entertained any doubt but that Texas will remain loyal to the party of the South, and to its ideals, its principles and its candidates," he said. "We are directing our efforts to the end that the Democratic majority will be a large one."

Mr. Thomas said he believed this majority will be 200,000 votes.

RHODE ISLAND AND CONNECTICUT CENTER OF OPPOSITE CLAIMS

FOREIGN VOTE IN BOTH STATES OBJECT OF SOLICITATION BY LEADERS

BY BYRON PRICE
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 31. (AP)—Habitually later than most of their neighbors in opening the season of active campaigning, the southern New England states of Connecticut and Rhode Island are taking their politics in concentrated portion as the national dispute over Hoover and Smith nears its end.

As they make the feverish round on conferences and rallies the leaders of both parties are claiming victory. When these predictions are made in public they are cheered noisily, on both sides, by large assemblages of the Connecticut and Rhode Island voters them selves. The by-stander can put his money and make his own forecast whether these 12 electoral votes—Connecticut's seven and Rhode Island's five—will go eventually to Smith or to Hoover or be split between them.

Both states have been voting for republican presidential nominees for years, and each is the stamping ground of a compact and experienced republican organization. Yet both lie within that coveted Eastern bloc of electoral votes for which the democrats are making an insistent appeal in 1928. They are the only two states in the union that never ratified the prohibition amendment. Each has far above the national average of Catholic population, and each is the home of large colonies sprung from immigrant stock from continental Europe.

Racial Feature Enters.

Nowhere are the racial considerations that mingle in the present national campaign more persistently discussed. Politicians who talk of the prospects of Nov. 6 veer around quickly to the probable disposition of what they call the Italian vote, the Polish vote, the French vote, the German vote or the negro vote. Nearly all of these racial groups have been in recent years peponderently republican. This year both parties are claiming them, on one ground or another.

On the two states, Rhode Island was singled out from the beginning of the campaign by democratic leaders, who argued that it would be one of the most likely of all of the Eastern group to go for Smith. They based this hope not only on the known wet sentiment of the state, but on the further fact that Senator Peter Gerry, a democrat, had twice overturned the republican normalcy, and is is year a candidate for reelection. Senator Gerry is chairman of the advisory committee of the democratic national campaign organization, and has not overlooked his home state in his efforts to garner in an electoral college majority for Smith.

Tariff Is Argued

As in other New England states, the republicans have countered the democratic attack on Rhode Island by arguing that the prosperity of the state's dominant industrial interests rest on the protective tariff. A very large percentage of those of foreign extraction are mill workers, and the full dinner pail argument has been used extensively among them, despite the democratic plea that the tariff is not an issue. In Rhode Island the French-Canadian element is credited with having the balance of power, and there is much dispute among the rival political leaders whether it will cling to its republican traditions or go over to Smith.

Neither do the politicians agree just what application the religious issue may have as regards the French-Canadians, who are an important element in the electorate of New Hampshire as well as Rhode Island, and who reside in lesser numbers in Massachusetts and Connecticut. This group is Catholic, but it has not always been in harmony with the Catholics or other races.

Democrats' Hope in Cities

In Connecticut, however, the French constitute one of the lesser racial groups. Their principal voting strength is concentrated in a single county next to the Rhode Island boundary. The Italian colonly is large, and there are many of the German, Austrian and other nationalities. Nearly all of them live in the cities, and it is upon the cities that the democrats base their greatest hope.

At the present stage of the campaign the Smith supporters are claiming every one of the twenty cities of Connecticut, although most of them are normally republican. The claim is disputed by the republicans. It is conceded, however, that Smith is likely to get a big vote in New Haven, where the democratic state committee has opened its headquarters and is vigorously at work.

BUSINESS READY AID FARMER SAYS U. S. CHAMBER HEAD

CHICAGO, Oct. 31. —(AP)— Business is standing by to assist in the stabilization of agriculture, William Butterworth of Moline, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, today told the Chicago associationof Commerce. The throes of depression in which some branches of farming finds itself are merely growing pains caused by the increasing efficiency and magnitude of modern production, he declared.

"It is as much the concern of business as of agriculture itself," [illegible] said, "that agriculture be prosperous. An awakening to the fact [illegible] those dollars which come [illegible] the creation of agricultural [illegible] are new dollars has established a new conception on the part [illegible] business men and they now re[illegible] not only as an obligation but [illegible] an opportunity to aid in [illegible] chasing power [illegible]

Corsicana Almost Marooned Account Impassable Roads

Corsicana was almost marooned from the outside world Tuesday after the rains of Monday afternoon and night. Some traffic was going through to Mexia using chains, and a few parties were going to Dallas by way of Waxahachie. The Ferris bottom strip was reported almost impassable, and some encountered difficulties between Corsicana and Ennis.

Travel to Waco via Dawson has been almost impossible since Saturday, and the Blooming Grove road was reported inadvisable. Telephonic reports from Kerens about noon said no traffic had arrived there either from Athens or Corsicana.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. CROTTY TUESDAY MORNING

Funeral services for Mrs. Matty Crotty, aged 70 years, who died Monday morning at 2 o'clock at the family residence, 1205 West Fourteenth avenue, were held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock from the Church of the Immaculate Conception, with interment in the Catholic cemetery. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. V. Graffeo of the local parish. Mrs. Crotty had been in ill health for some time, but her condition did not become critical until a short time before her death.

Prior to moving to Corsicana about eight years ago, the family resided at Greenville, Stephenville, Austin and Galveston.

Surviving are her husband, John Crotty, two sons, E. R. Crotty, Corsicana, and W. E. Crotty, Fort Worth; several grand-children and one neice, Mrs. A. Heichelheim, Lake Charles, La.

Pallbearers were George Edmondson, S. J. Lanham, Tom Brennon, Tom Hickey, J. H. Kerr and Charles Hosack.

Henry Pritchard of Angus was in the city Thursday.

STANDARDIZATION OF SEEDS WILL BE ATTEMPTED HERE

Plans were being made Tuesday for a conference to be held in Corsicana soon to consider the problem of seed-standardization, a program which would enable each community to use one variety of seed particularly adaptable to the cotton land of that section, instead of the common practice of using a large number of varieties.

G. W. Orms of College Station, district agricultural agent, E. A. Miller, agronomist from Texas A. and M. College, and E. R. Eudaly, swine specialist, were working with Henry Gentry, local farm agent, on the arrangements for the school.

TEXAS BOLTOCRAT LEADER ATTEMPTS TO JUSTIFY POSITION

DALLAS, Oct. 31. —(AP)— Tammany Hall and prohibition are the issues before Texas voters, St te Senator Thomas B. Love asserted in a statement here today. He said that aside from these issues, there are "a good many thousands of Texas democrats" who have been waiting for a good many years to vote for Herbert Hoover because they admire him, believe in him, and think him the best equipped man alive for the presidency."

"They remember with grateful appreciation the servicehe rendered as Woodrow Wilson's trusted World war aide in making food win the war," the statement continued, "and they resent the baseless and unjust attacks made upon him by politicians during the war and since, and in this campaign.

"There are many thousands of voters in Texas, like myself, who if there were no prohibition issue or other issue involved, would not vote to put a sachem of Tammany Hall * * * in the White House; then there are many thousands more, also like myself, who would not vote for a wet nullification for president, even if he lificationist for president, even if he Hall."

Tom Weaver of Brown's Valley was here Wednesday afternoon on business.

Postal Department Denies Employees Filled Ballots

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The postoffice department issued a statement today showing it had taken cognizance of published reports in the South that ballots in the Literary Digest straw vote had been improperly voted for Herbert Hoover by postoffice employes, at the same time saying there was no evidence to support the charges.

The statement declared that Postmaster General New had ordered an investigation on the strength of statements by T. H. Alexander, of the Nashville Tennessean, who said he had received letters from postal employes saying such a practice was being followed. Gardiner Shanks, the inspector who investigated, reported that Alexander "grossly exaggerated the matter and imagined the remainder, purely for political purposes."

MEXICAN NAVAL OFFICER PLANNED SMUGGLE LIQUOR

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 30.—(AP)—A Vera Cruz dispatch to El Universal today said that an attempt to smuggle liquor into the United States by a Mexican naval officer had been revealed.

The dispatch stated that Military Commandant General Francisco Pena had cited Lieutenant Cuautemoc Perez of the warship Agua Prieta to a military court on charges that the lieutenant had planned to introduce liquor into the United States during the vessel's visit to American ports. Apparently General Pena discovered the alleged plot before the departure of the vessel and seized the liquor.

The investigation by the court will start when the warship returns and Lieutenant Perez will be arrested at that time. General Pena announced that he would see that all culprits were severely punished.

V. L. Porch of Black Hills was here Thursday on business.

THOSE DESIRING SUBSCR DEMOCRATIC FUND MAY DO SO --- SEES PARTY VI

A check for an additional $66.00 has been forwarded the democratic campaign committee by A. A. Allison, county democratic finance chairman.

It was pointed out by Mr. Allison that he had tried to give every democrat in the county an opportunity to subscribe to this fund and if there were yet any who desired to subscribe to the fund the list is still open. All those desiring to aid the democratic cause financially are urged to get in touch with Mr. Allison at once by phone.

Mr. Allison also took occasion to thank the democrats for their liberal contributions saying that although all had not contributed he had been treated very courteously by everyone.

"With an excellent opportunity of victory for the d evidenced from eve who have not here ed to a national should be inspired Allison said.

Stock In the Corsicana National Farm Loan Association is one of the Best Assets a Farmer Can Have.

A has a $10,000.00 Loan with an Old Line Company, pays 6 1-2 per cent innterest, or $650 a year for ten years, or $6500.00 interest and and owes the $10,000.00 principal, which is $16,500.00 to discharge debt.

B has a $10,000.00 Loan with the Federal Land Bank, pays 5 per ct. interest, 1 per ct. principal or $600.00 each year for ten years, which will be $6000.00. The Association has paid him not less than 5 per cent Dividend on his $500.00 Stock, which will reduce the interest $250.00, leaving $5750.00.

At the end of ten years he will owe $8724.00 less $500.00 stock, leaving a balance of $8224. Add this to $5750.00, the amount he has paid out, and the total sum needed to discharge his loan will be $13,974.00 which is a saving of $2526.00 in favor of the Federal Land Bank Loan, or an earning of over 50 per ct. each year on his STOCK through the 10-year period.

If the Old Line Company should make a 6 per cent Loan, there will be a saving of $2026.00 in favor of the Federal Land Bank Loan or an annual earning of over forty per ct. annually on the Stock during the 10 years. If you were to receive nothing for your stock you would only pay 5 1-4 per cent for your money.

"I Wanna Be Loved By You"

Helen Kane sings her big hit from the show, "Good Boy." It's funny, and it's appealing. Little Miss Kane makes every word mean something. You'll want to take this record home the first time you hear it. Drop in some time this week and hear the latest Victor Records. Bring your friends.
